WOMEN AND THEIR ART OF ADORNMENT

FADS OF THOSE, LESS CIVILIZED THAN OUR COUNTRY

NO matter where you go, whether it be in the wilds or whether it be in the midst of civilization, the art of feminine adornment is ever the strongest feature with those of whom it is said "the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world."

Under the title of "Women of All Nations," T. Athol Joyce, and N. W. Thomas, Fellows of the Royal Anthropological Institute of England, have woven a clever and interesting story regarding the characteristics, the habits, manners, customs, and influence of the females all over the world.

old, the mother begins the disgusting and painful process of tattooing the lips, without which mark she could never hope to win a husband. Ash bark is soaked for some days and to this is added the soot of burned pitch bark. A goodly portion is rubbed over the surface of the lips, and the wriggling screaming girl is placed under the torture of tattooing with a sharp instrument.

Tattooing is a fine art with the Eskimaux. The women are nearly all tattooed, and in some localities the designs are quite elaborate. They of the large structure is a group of the belles of Zanzibar dressing one another's hair. They seek, as do women everywhere, the aid of each other to make themselves irresistible. The Swahilis are an Arab-Bantu people of Zanzibar, and it will be noticed that their hair is dressed in ridges, without the aid of rats or hairpins, and that the climax of adornment are elaborate patches on their faces. The Naga women from the Patkol hills, Assam, are also shown in the picture in their dresses of cane. The photograph was taken by the late R. A. Wray, chief engineer in charge of survey expeditions in the country. Their costume consists of circles of cane around the waist, and strips of cane around the legs below the knees. This particular group of women were employed in carrying rathons, and it was only with the greatest difficulty that they were persuaded to pose for a photograph.

Among the Ainu women is a practice of tattooing moustache on young girls. When a girl is about two years are chiefly marked on the chin or about the mouth with one or more stripes, but the arms, breast and back are also brought into service. The original motive seems to be fashion or social rule, but it is related of one woman that she tattooed white marks in the corners of her mouth to show that she was the wife of a successful hunter.

THE LIMITED LANGUAGE
OF LOVE

Some sweet way of loving you
Better than I love you now
Is the boon for which I sue.
If you know, dear, tell me how.
May I woo you not by rhyme
All the "blestful" day and long,
Like a hawk to glory climb
On the ladder of a song?

"It of love's sweet story old,
 Every phrase to passion wed,
 Lips long sealed by Death have told,
 All hath many times been said,
 So to you I dare would speak —
 Something, I caught in language new,
 Young, noon and night I seek,
 Some sweet way of loving you.

Men prove as they say, and yet
 Love's vocabulary stands
 Circumscribed, and still and set,
 As if bound with iron bands.
 Yet 'tis said that somewhere hid
 Fate lies to the one who weeps,
 If I seek I yet may find
 Some sweet way of loving you.

Nora Langhorne Is
To Wed in June

LONDON.—Paul Phipps, who is engaged to marry Miss Nora Langhorne, the only one of the five "lovely Langhorne girls" remaining single, is 27 years old and a fine-looking fellow.

He is American on the maternal side, his mother being a daughter of William Butler Duncan of New York. His father, Wilton Phelps is not related to the Pittsburg Phelps.

Paul Phipps was a college chum of young Waldorf Astor and has often visited Cliveden, Mr. Astor's superb country residence, a wedding gift from his father. There Mr. Phipps first met Miss Langhorne last year, when she was visiting her sister, Mrs. Waldorf Astor.

Mr. Phillips is not particularly wealthy, but is clever and with a growing practice at his profession. The wedding will take place at the Langhorne home in Virginia next June, probably.

William Butler Duncan, Paul Phillips' grandfather, a capitalist and railroad official, member of many New York clubs, lives at 1 Fifth avenue. Born in Scotland, Mr. Duncan was formerly president of the St. Andrew's Society of this city.

A. Butler Duncan, the ardent yachtman, is Mr. Phillips' uncle. Mrs. Paul Dana is his aunt.

BOSTON.—Among the successful business women of the Granite State, Mrs. Dexter B. Davis, of Boston, of Farmington, probably has no superior.

Trained from her youth, to a wide range of activities, she has been able to turn them all to profitable account as occasion demanded. Her special forte from girlhood has been farming, and that, including stock breeding and buying and selling live stock for profit, is her business.

of men's clothes quite by accident," said the man, who had decided to get out of the country. "I was in the barn with skirts and summer and found a lot of things on them and getting into the idea of wearing them. I was thinking of selling a lot of boys. I have worn men's clothes since. People laugh at me, I know, for driving into town with a problem or word, but I don't think it is horrible, and I feel like the only great comfort."

The man was friends of the family. He expected to get a kind of, but was surprised by the answer. An experienced lumberman.

"Thy blood, at least, with no wild unrest,
 I envy no man's estate.
 I'd rather be once by your lips caressed
 Than to lounge long and have
 With luscious, languorous lips that learn
 No lesson of love that's true;
 Their touch I'd spurn with an uncon-
 cern —
 I'd rather be kissed by you.
 A crown, renown, and the softest down
 Of couch for a bed of ease.
 Ah, I'd never give him of your gingham

 Shall never my hopes imbue,
 Nor princely pelf, nor the crown itself—
 I'd rather be near with you.

Love's Laurels

The King may sing of his signet ring,
The prince of his trusty blade,
But Colin's song hath a sweeter swing,
To the heart of the peasant maid.
And so I chorus the loving lay
That never of knighthood knew,
Let those who may wear the wreaths of bay--
It may be over with you

"I'd rather be poor with you.
 "The least, at least, with no wild unrest."
 "I envy no man's estate,
 "I'd rather be once by your tips caressed
 "Than to hugge long and rare
 "With huffing, jaegerous lips that learn
 "No lesson of love that's true;
 "Their touch I'd spurn with an uncon-
 "cern —
 "I'd rather be kissed by you.
 "A crown, renown, and the softest down
 "Of couch for a bed of ease,
 "Why, I'd never give them of your glugging

 "For glory and glow of these.
 "Drumkes, and Decadan, and rarest Delf

 "Nor plenty's self, nor the crown itself —
 "I'd rather be with you."

2. No sound of man or beast or bird, and when they speak their every word Sounds faint unto the listening ear (this region has no atmosphere). Two hundred thousand miles and more are they above the earthly shore!

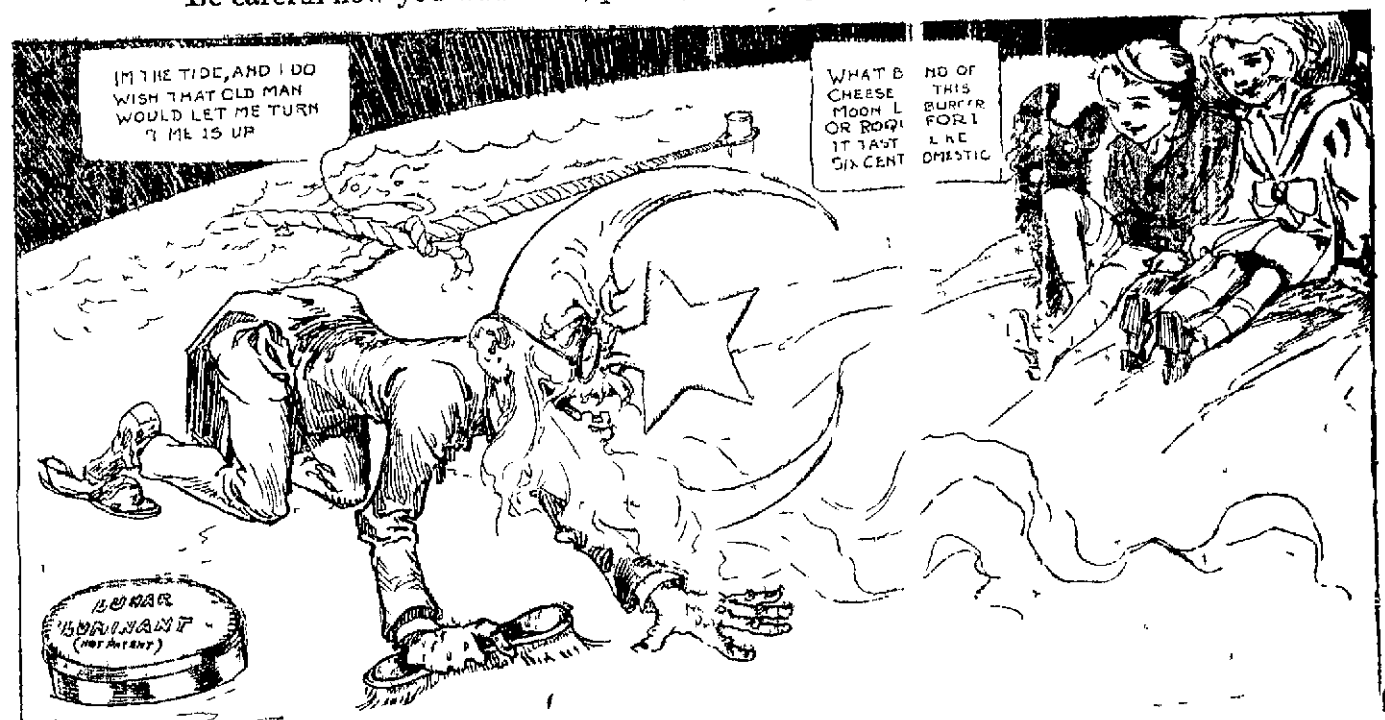

3. "Hey! Where ye goin'?" Say, look out! Gosh! Can't you see what you're about?" They look around, and none too soon; they're steering right into the moon The airship's stopped by magic hand, and then upon the moon they land.

The Smartest Fashions of Well-Dressed Folk

FOR THE EASTER SEASON

DEAREST ELEANOR:

Easter Day! What a beautiful time of year it is. The weather is verging upon springtime, with just a hint of summer gladness. Children are happy with realized dreams of colored eggs and playful bunnies, while grown-ups share with them their pleasure.

This morning I came down really early and gave Ted and Eleanor the presents that all the family had sent them for Easter. There was an adorable bunny from grandfather, huge baskets of colored eggs from different members of the family, while Bob donated a dozen chocolate eggs and I had bought a fuzzy animal—a soft, white Angora cat.

Amid all these treasures you may imagine the delight of the children when the box came containing the really live duck that you so kindly sent. It is a sweet thing, and I want to thank you for having remembered them. Children are very satisfactory people to send things to, for they are so appreciative.

For myself, I am always glad to be able to wear light dresses, and for this reason I love to see the arrival of Easter morning, without taking into consideration the pleasure of the season itself.

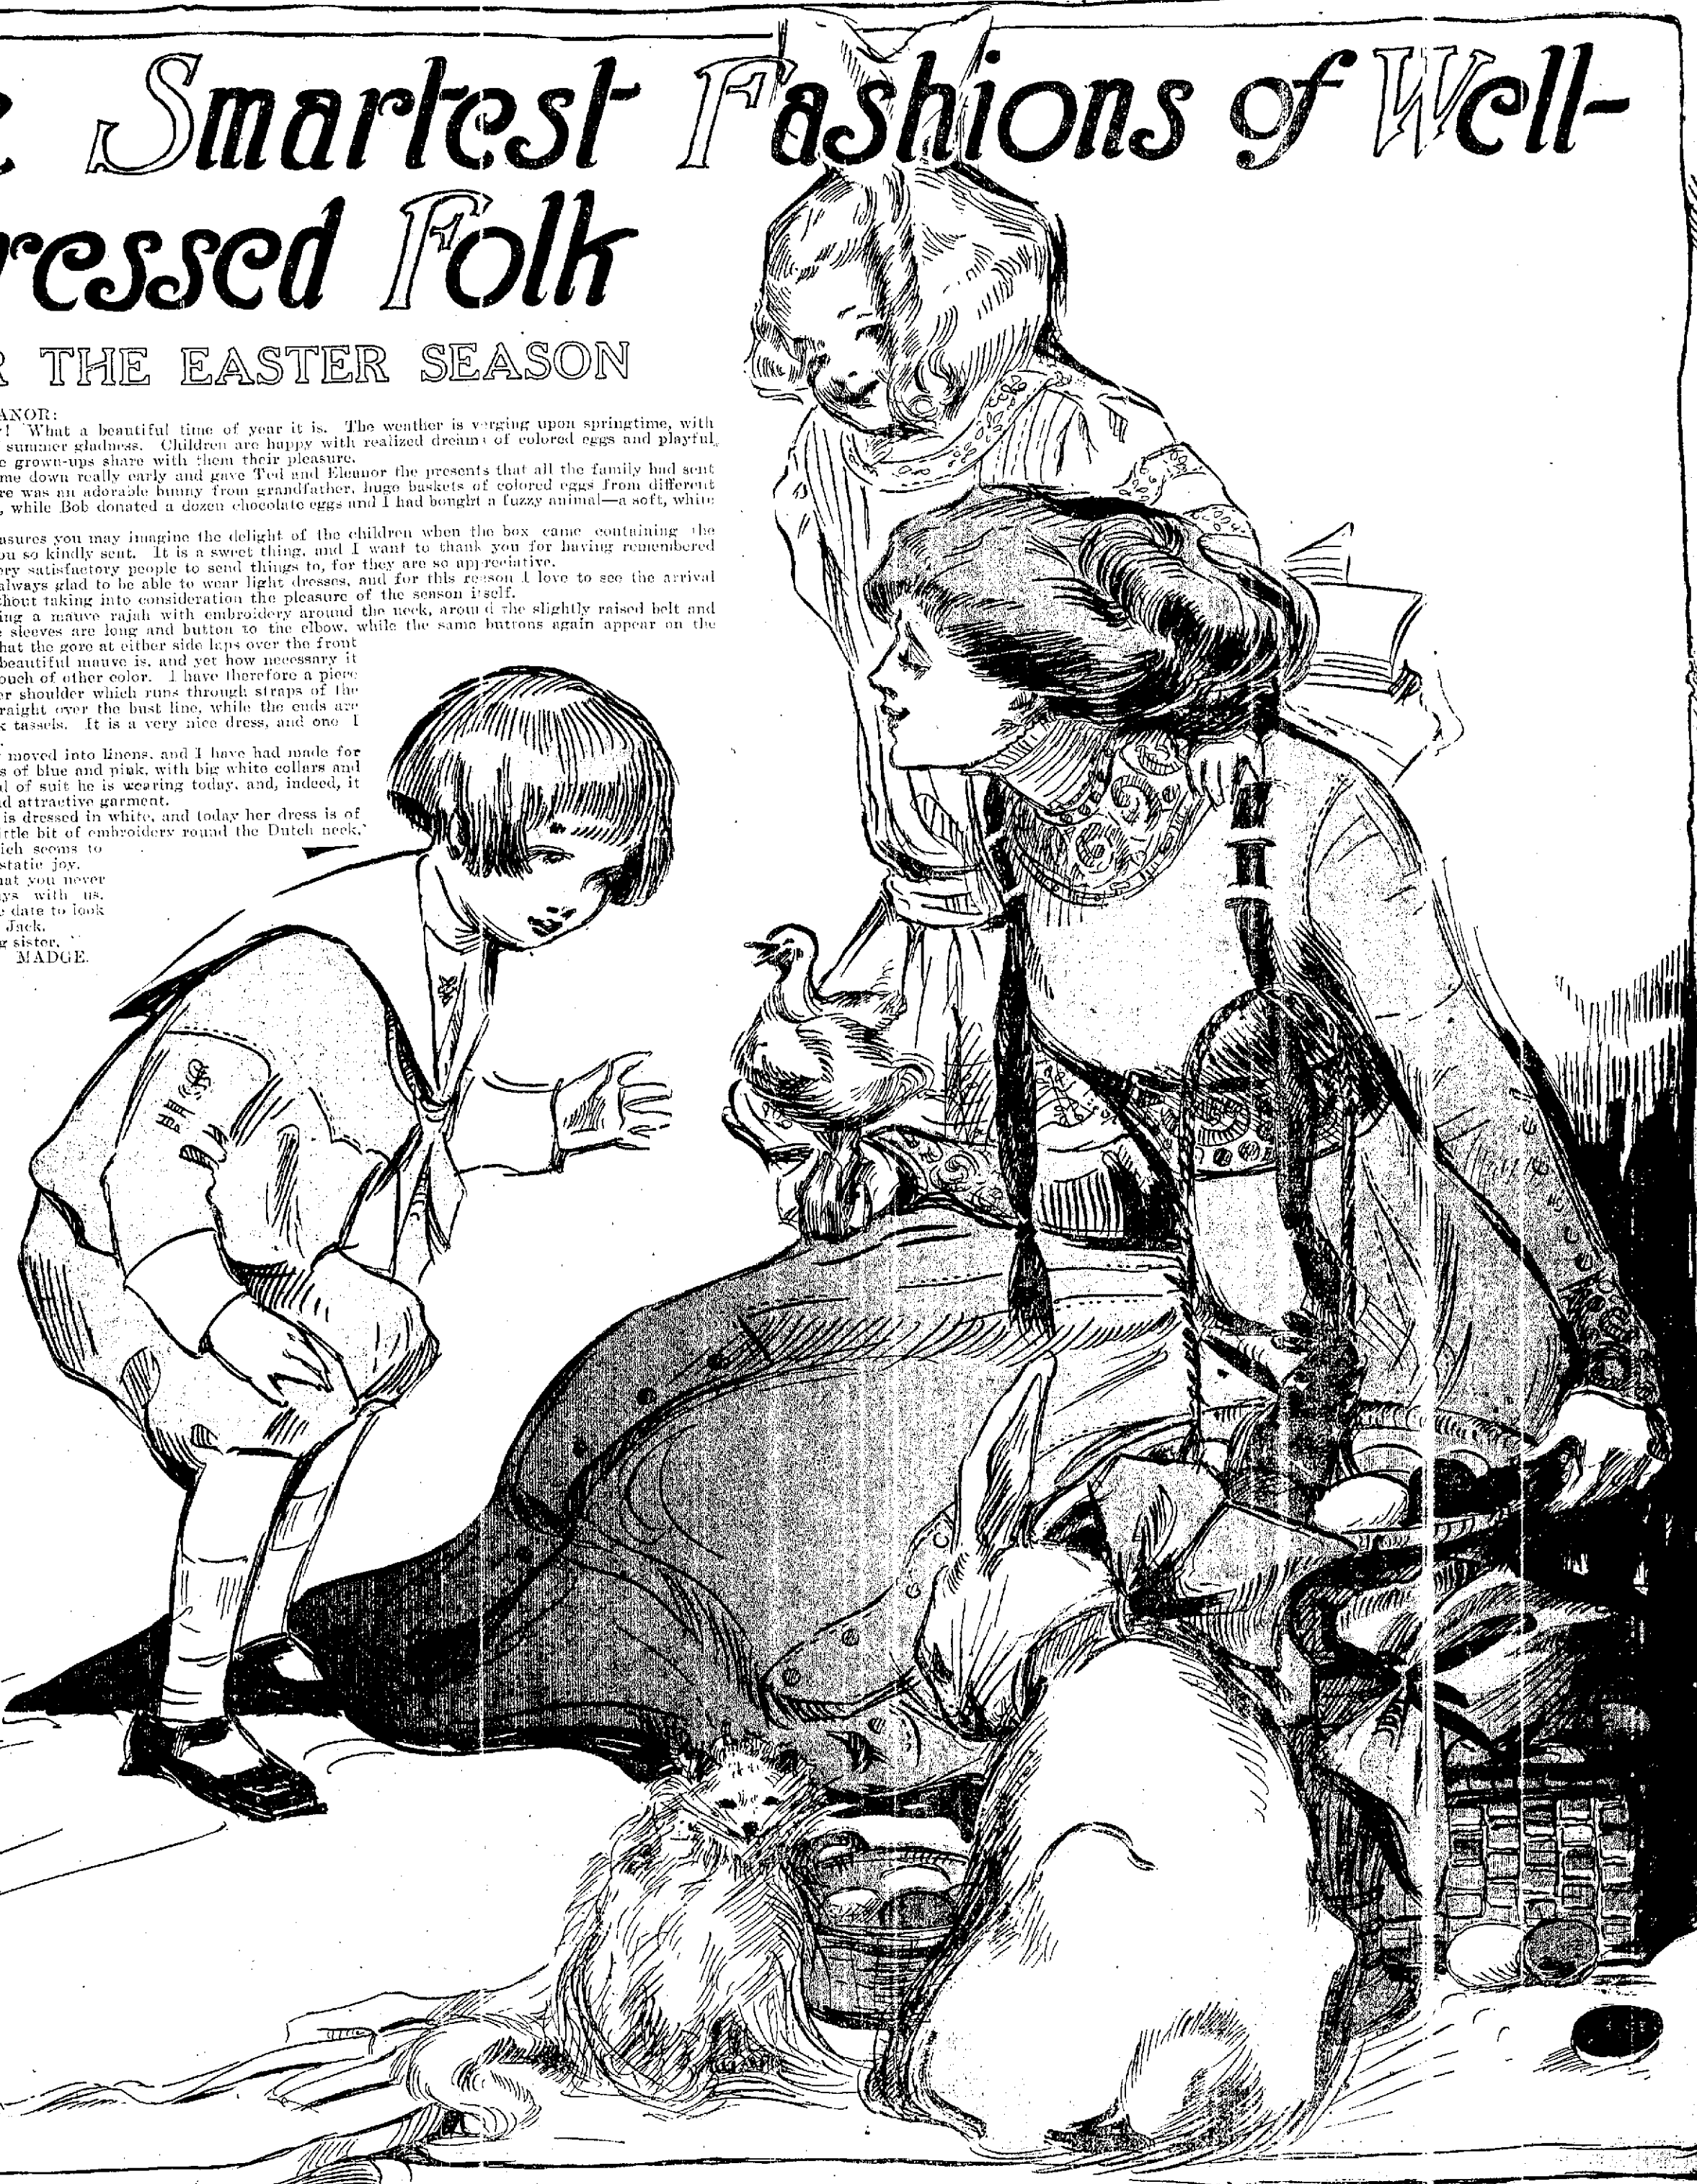

Today I am wearing a mauve rajah with embroidery around the neck, around the slightly raised belt and around the cuffs. The sleeves are long and button to the elbow, while the same buttons again appear on the skirt, which is cut so that the gore at either side lies over the front gore. You know how beautiful mauve is, and yet how necessary it is to relieve it with a touch of other color. I have therefore a piece of black satin on either shoulder which runs through straps of the material and hangs straight over the bust line, while the ends are finished with black silk tassels. It is a very nice dress, and one I think I will find useful.

Teddy has already moved into linens, and I have had made for him several sailor suits of blue and pink, with big white collars and cuffs. This is the kind of suit he is wearing today, and, indeed, it makes a very pretty and attractive garment.

Eleanor, as usual, is dressed in white, and today her dress is of white batiste, with a little bit of embroidery round the Dutch neck, and a yellow sash which seems to give her a sort of ecstatic joy.

It seems to me that you never do spend the holidays with us. Can't you give us some date to look forward to? Love to Jack.

Always your loving sister,
MADGE.

CONCERNING HEALTH and BEAUTY

By MRS. HENRY SYMES

The FRENCH DOCTRINE of BEAUTY

She Is Ready for Her Bath.

THINK I have never seen a prettier woman than the one who is ready for her bath. She is not only beautiful, but she is also healthy and happy.

Which I like to see in the evening. The French woman who makes the most of her beauty, and who is not only beautiful, but she is also healthy and happy.

Indeed, it is a fact that some of the women who are ready for their bath are the most beautiful and healthy. They are not only beautiful, but they are also healthy and happy.

Madame Lavoisier was a French woman who was ready for her bath. She was not only beautiful, but she was also healthy and happy. She was a French woman who was ready for her bath.

The Foot Should Be Treated Every Morning to a Warm Bath with Soap and Almond Oil.

But the most important thing to remember is that the foot should be treated every morning to a warm bath with soap and almond oil.

Not only should the foot be treated every morning to a warm bath with soap and almond oil, but it should also be treated with a good foot powder.

Madame Lavoisier was a French woman who was ready for her bath. She was not only beautiful, but she was also healthy and happy. She was a French woman who was ready for her bath.

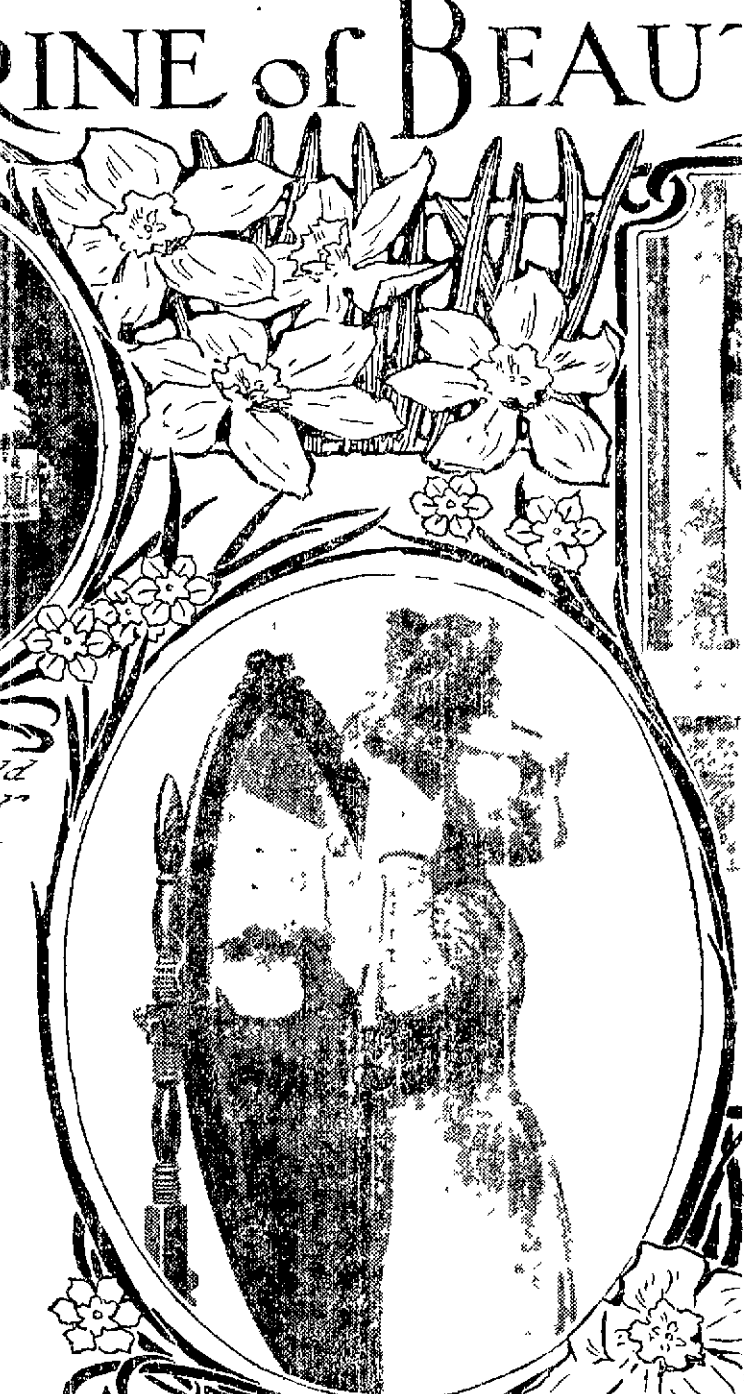

One's Tooth Brush Should Be Disinfected after Use.

The French custom of disinfected toothbrushes is a very important one. It is a custom that should be followed by everyone who cares for their health and beauty.

Not only should the toothbrush be disinfected after use, but it should also be stored in a clean, dry place.

Madame Lavoisier was a French woman who was ready for her bath. She was not only beautiful, but she was also healthy and happy. She was a French woman who was ready for her bath.

Against All Outdoor Enemies. Protect the Face with a Chloro-z. Peel.

Not only should the face be protected against all outdoor enemies, but it should also be protected with a good face cream.

Madame Lavoisier was a French woman who was ready for her bath. She was not only beautiful, but she was also healthy and happy. She was a French woman who was ready for her bath.

Toilet Articles Need Rinsing Every Day.

Not only should toilet articles be rinsed every day, but they should also be stored in a clean, dry place.

HOW TO ENTERTAIN THE GIFT

FLOWERS

THE title was laid before me for my choice of subject.

"How to Entertain the Gift of Flowers." And, as if whispered in my ear, a bit of rhyme I learned in the "merry, merry May" of my own life:

Mine is the old belief,
That, midst you, sweets and mist your bloom,
There's a soul in every leaf.

The "entertainment" of souls symbolized by what another poet tells us are—

Stars that in the earth's fragrant to shade—

Is, then, a dignified and a lovely duty.

I decided forthwith to let that line stand as it was written.

Is there another reader of this page, I wonder, who ever studied the Flora's dictionary that were in our foremothers' and maiden great-aunts' libraries, and consult more frequently than Walker's Lexicon of the English Language?

I have not seen a copy of "Flora's Dictionary" in fifty years, or of another better-known manual, compiled by my memory does not play the false, my Frances Osgood. It bore the honoring title of "Flowers of Poetry and

Poetry of Flowers." An admirer of the popular cousin for whom I was named

gave it to me on my twelfth birthday,

and she and I used to consult the flower-pages together. That the language of flowers, therefore, expounded in often, and at times almost exclusively,

the authorized and the unauthorized, have been mentioned, sometimes rise to laughable "happenings." Will the modern girl reader be patient with the telling of one of these?

Both volumes were in use in a quaint old homestead "sway down South," in Disile, where a "house party" was assembled for a week in July.

There was the usual number of alleged and suspected lovers, and so much wooing and being wooed going forward that I, though a child, could not see in the understanding of the situation.

One determined ruler of a daughter of the house put his face to the test in the white, high noon of a summer's day, catching his Duenna at the piano in the shaded drawing room, and proceeding, then and there, to enter readily upon an exposition of the business that had drawn him thither. He was in the full flood of protestation when the rest of the party, unwilling of the imminence of the crisis, flattered into the room

from veranda and lawn, seeking coolness and shadow and declining against the fervent heat of the other world.

The luckless swain had not another opportunity to press the unfinished suit for the rest of the day, seek it though he did with assiduity that awakened the suspensions of the initiated. This situation was assuredly off guard (that was son, for he was so far left to himself as to bring a bunch of sweet peas from the garden late that afternoon and present it to his Amethyst as she sat on the porch, surrounded by a circle of mischieved-looking lookers-on. A stifled laugh rippled through the party, swelling into a burst of merriment as the girl looked up from the offering, her cheeks scarlet and her eyes flashing indignation at the audience upon the poor blunderer. For everybody there except himself knew the dedication set over against "Sweet pea" in Flora's Dictionary.

My appointed time had half discomforted the title of "Flowers of Poetry and

Poetry of Flowers." An admirer of the popular cousin for whom I was named

gave it to me on my twelfth birthday,

pages together. That the language of

Mystery of Murder of Policeman Brown Soon May Be Solved

JOKER IN BILL UNCOVERS A SCANDAL

By-Products of Petroleum Not on Free List as at First Supposed

STANDARD OIL WINS WHILE MEMBERS LOOK ON

House Stirred Over Revelations May Recall the Payne Tariff Measure

WASHINGTON, April 10.—

At no time in the history of the Standard Oil Company and its relation to legislation has there been uncovered such a scandal as was revealed today. In the bill which passed the House yesterday it was generally presumed that petroleum, crude and refined, its accessories and by-products, was on the free list.

Through analysis of the bill passed by the House and today reported to the Senate, it is discovered that none of the by-products of oil refineries except paraffine are mentioned in the Payne bill in any manner whatsoever.

In the expiring moments of the house's consideration of the tariff schedule a joker was put on unsuspecting members and it passed. Democrats were asleep. They vainly imagined that they were bargaining for free oil. Champ Clark, minority leader, seemed peculiarly pleased and amused when, yesterday morning, Representative Payne, chairman of the ways and means committee, asked that his (Clark's) amendment, fixing an ad valorem of one per cent on oil be disagreed to and an amendment for free oil be substituted.

Democrats Ticked

The Democratic members cheered. They had won the Republicans to their side in the tariff fight they had made against the oil monopoly. To have the chairman of the ways and means committee go even farther than their bill had provided for was a happy news. Members patted each other on their backs, not metaphorically, but physically. Surely this was a triumph for them. It was a pretty trick. An editorial young reporter, one with no reputation in the journalistic world, discovered the joker this afternoon.

Here is the Joker

By this joker the Payne tariff bill the Standard Oil Company secures a twenty per cent protection on manufactured products, despite the plain intent of the overwhelming majority of the House that oil and all of its products should be admitted free.

Here is the joker: Section 9 of the Payne bill, as it passed the House, reads as follows:

"Section 9.—That there shall be levied, collected and paid on the importation of all raw and manufactured articles not enumerated or provided for in this act a duty of ten per cent ad valorem, and on all articles manufactured in whole or in part from petroleum, crude or refined, a duty of twenty per cent ad valorem."

Paragraph 637 of the Payne bill, which, being a part of the free list, sets out what oils are to be admitted free of duty, specifies among numerous other oils, "petroleum, crude or refined," and stops there.

No provision is made that the manufactured or by-products of petroleum shall also be admitted free.

Protection on Side Lines

And there is the joker. The latter half of section 9 above quoted places a 20 per cent ad valorem duty on "all articles manufactured in whole or in part from petroleum, crude or refined, and all its products on the free list."

"That was the intention," said Payne.

Olive Fremstad Says She Spoke Only for Herself

NEW YORK, April 10.—The following letter received today by the editor of a New York paper is self-explanatory:

"Sir: In reference to a statement that I am quoted to have made about singers having children, I should like to say that I am totally unconcerned about this matter. The statement was purely personal. When I was asked if I should agree to a home with children, I answered that as my own life was absorbing it would be impossible for me personally to give a child or children the attention they rightfully deserved without detriment to my life work.

As so many have taken this matter as directed to them, I shall appreciate your putting them to rights. Cordially yours, OLIVE FREMSTAD.

THREE EVILS THREATEN THIS NATION

Says Cardinal Gibbons

BALTIMORE, April 10.—His eminence, Cardinal Gibbons, gave an authoritative interview today at the cardinal's residence. The correspondent said: "It is asserted, your eminence, that Christian Science, the New Thought and other similar cults that have sprung up in recent years have so honeycombed certain of the church organizations of this country with their beliefs that the progress of several denominations has been retarded; that, indeed it is so strong within some churches that the clergy are afraid to deal with it as they would like or attack it, lest such a course react in its favor. Whether this is true or not concerning other churches, is it true of the Catholic Church?"

Since Time of St. Peter

"The Catholic Church," answered the cardinal, "is no more incumbered with the recent years' issues and excrescences that seem to thrive, each for a time, in America than it has been at any time during the centuries since St. Peter."

"The position of the Catholic Church," continued the cardinal, "in reference to modern scientists, may be thus briefly summarized: The church fosters and encourages every department of science, but just as she is the friend of true science, she is opposed to all false pretensions of science.

"There is much difference between true and false science as there is between authority and despotism, liberty and license. When she hears a man or woman advancing some crude theory at variance with the received doctrines of revelation—with the superintending providence or the wisdom of His sanctity, when she hears him advocating some hypothesis opposed to the unity of the human species, to the spirituality and the immortality of the soul, to other great doctrines that involve at once the dignity and moral responsibility of the human race, she knows that his or her assumptions must be false because she knows that God's revelation must be true.

Thus Far, No Farther

"The church stands between such a woman and the divine oracle of which she is the custodian, and when she sees him or her raise his or her profane hands and attempt to touch the temple of faith she cries out: 'Thus far shalt thou go and no farther!'"

"If you do not agree with us that the church is right in raising her voice against groundless theories that deprecate the truth and poison its very source, how can one consent to forsake the sacred ground?"

Queen Wilhelmina's Ill Health Alarms Holland

THE HAGUE, April 10.—The gravest alarm is felt over the condition of Queen Wilhelmina on account of a rumor spread broadcast today that the state of her health has taken an unfavorable turn. The queen is soon expected to present Holland with an heir to the throne and her subjects are in dread lest another keen disappointment is in store for them.

While it is officially announced that the queen's condition is most satisfactory, the fact that the court physicians have had frequent and lengthy consultations has caused the spread of the rumor that her condition has undergone a change for the worse.

Royal Prince Is a Suitor for Hand of Mrs. Yerkes

NEW YORK, April 10.—The Yerkes Fifth avenue mansion was still in a state of siege this afternoon, representatives of the receivers for the estate holding a position within doors. Mrs. Yerkes, reported to be ill, declined herself to all callers.

The prince was Constantine Paleologus, known as Prince of Byzantium, Count of Veleo and Vovidenus, and claimant to the throne of Greece, who has been a devoted suitor.

The prince was indignant at the action of the receivers, declaring that Mrs. Yerkes was being hounded.

POTTER SWAPS WIVES WITH DEPEW

NOVEL MARITAL SHUFFLE SETS SWELLDOM AGOG

From All Parts of East Come Echoes of Novel Deal in Spouses

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., April 10.—The announcement of Mrs. Louise McNatt Potter, wife of Ashton Potter, formerly an officer in the United States navy, secured a divorce today in San Francisco caused no surprise in Colorado Springs.

"Captain" Potter, as he is known here, has lived here for the last three years. It is an open secret in Colorado Springs and Denver that back of the divorce proceedings today in San Francisco is the divorce granted here two months ago to Mrs. Grace Depew from Ganson Depew, a millionaire chairman of Buffalo and New York, lies a story that promises to startle exclusive society circles of two continents.

To Trade Wives

"It is said on high authority that Ashton Potter and Ganson Depew are to 'trade' wives. This question was put straight to Mrs. Depew, although not in so many words, at the time of the divorce, but she steadfastly refused to talk for publication. She would neither deny nor confirm the reports.

"I have nothing to say," was all that could be gotten from her. Mrs. Potter also declined to discuss the matter. Mr. Potter and Mrs. Depew were in Denver, Pa., in connection with the divorce proceedings and happenings of the last three years all tend to confirm the rumors. A little less than four years ago the Potters and the Depews, close friends in the East, made a trip abroad together, remaining away several months. As had been their custom for years past, they visited Paris, London and other European cities, and moved in the most exclusive social circles abroad, as well as at home. It is said they even had access to many royal homes.

Rumors Wouldn't Down

Upon their return to the United States there were rumors of domestic troubles which did not down. A little later Mrs. Depew came to Colorado Springs, ostensibly for her health, although she is a large, handsome, robust woman. Soon she bought a magnificent home in La Jolla, a exclusive section of this city, and within a short time Mr. Potter arrived on the scene. He immediately took up his residence in Broadmoor, near Mrs. Depew's home. The two have lived here since that time and are almost constant companions.

When Mrs. Depew obtained her divorce here two months ago, she drove to her courthouse in her big touring car. At her side in the machine was "Captain" Potter. After the proceedings, which were very brief, they drove away together, both wearing smiles of great satisfaction. Since then, as before, they have been in each others company most of the time.

Extreme Cruelty Alleged

Mrs. Depew got her divorce on the grounds of extreme cruelty. She testified that her husband frequently jerked pictures from the wall and threw them at her. She said he also swore at her many times. No allusion was made to any money matters having been reached between her and her husband. Mr. Depew, who is a millionaire, is a nephew of United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew of New York. Mr. Potter is a nephew of the late Governor Potter. Mrs. Depew is a daughter of a New York millionaire.

Artist Earle Seeks to Regain His First Wife

FORMER MRS. EARLE.

AS SHE PREDICTED HE WOULD IN TIME

Her Family, However, Will Prevent Their Union Again

NEW YORK, April 10.—Ferdinand Phiney Earle's present trip to Europe is made with the intention of regaining his first wife. That became known today when it was learned that he sailed on La Touraine.

Not much surprise was caused by the announcement that he would seek to regain the affections of the woman he cast off in order to marry Julia Kuttner, "soul mate" who is now suing him for annulment. The first Mrs. Earle herself said more than a year ago he would be coming around again. She told friends at the time that the soul mate idea would play out in a very short time, and she has reiterated the statement since she has been living with her children and her parents near Paris.

Has No Chance

Her friends assert, however, that Earle's attempt at reconciliation will be in vain. They recall that only two weeks ago, at the time when Julia Kuttner began her suit, the first Mrs. Earle in a cabled interview said she never wished to see her former husband again and that she would not return to live with him under any circumstances.

Moreover, her father has announced that he will not permit a reunion, even if his daughter is willing. She is now under his protection and may be intended that she shall stay there, safe from any further chance of a matrimonial tragedy for the rest of her life.

SUSPECTED MAN NOW IN THE COUNTY JAIL

Brown Was Shot to Death While on Beat Near Providence Hospital

POLICE WERE NEVER ABLE TO SOLVE MYSTERY

Is Alleged Now That Man Told His Wife That He Did the Deed

IT MAY prove that in the next few days the four years mystery surrounding the brutal killing of Policeman George Brown may be cleared up. Suspicion is now strongly centered around James Murphy who is serving a three months sentence in the county jail for an assault on his father-in-law.

The solution all hangs upon the truth of the alleged statement credited to the man's wife, Mrs. Mary Murphy, which it is alleged was a statement made by Murphy to her that he was the man who shot and killed Brown.

All this is known to the police and to the county authorities but they absolutely refused last night to either affirm or deny the story.

Brutal Assault

Murphy was arrested on January 5 of this year, when he had, in a drunken rage, knocked his wife unconscious and attacked her father with a large carving knife, declaring he would disembowel him if he could but lay his hands on him. The police intervened in time, however, and the would-be murderer was brought before Superior Judge Brown, where, after a short jury trial, he was found guilty and sentenced to three months in the county jail.

Since the brutal treatment of her husband, it is said, Mrs. Murphy decided to leave her spouse for ever.

Brown's Murder

Patrolman George Brown was murdered in the dead of night by an assassin who lurked in the shadow of the bushes surrounding the Providence Hospital. The officer was riding slowly about the vicinity on his animal and had reached the corner of Twenty-sixth street and Broadway, when suddenly a shot rang out and a bullet pierced his breast. He fell from his horse, and by the time police tripped, attracted by the shot, arrived, Brown had breathed his last.

The police headquarters were quickly notified and a squad of officers detailed to the district at double quick time. All night long the posse searched. Every house was looked through and every possible place of concealment was thoroughly investigated, but the cowardly murderer had succeeded in making good his escape. For weeks after the murder detectives worked on the case, but their every effort was met with failure.

All clues led to nothing and the policemen found themselves baffled at every point by the brutal assassin of Brown.

Murphy's Crime

Murphy, who was, prior to his arrest, an engineer for a local manufacturing concern, had always lived with his wife and her aged father-in-law in a small cottage on Sixty-third street, near San Pablo avenue. One evening he returned home under the influence of liquor. His wife upbraided him for his inebriety. This angered him and he struck her to the floor with a blow which knocked her senseless. Then the father-in-law intervened, and the son-in-law fled from the premises. Instead of complying Murphy snatched a huge knife from a table and darted at his father-in-law. The latter fled to the street, pursued by Murphy. Up the street they ran until an officer appeared on the scene and ended the chase.

Murphy was given short shrift by the police and, being found guilty by a jury and sentenced to serve three months in the county jail, where he is now being held.

EXCLUSIVENESS FAVORED BY CLUB

Tri-City Rotary Organization to Admit Only One Person of Each Profession

The regular meeting of the Tri-City Rotary Club was held at Hotel Metropolitan, April 9, 1909. In the absence of President Blegen, Dr. H. B. Tait presided and H. C. Montgomery acted as secretary.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Clarence J. Johnson, of the Wetmore-Brown Wire Co., spoke on the "Aims and Objects of Rotary Clubs" and said in part:

"The Chicago Club seems to be the most active working organization on the business principles of the Rotary clubs, which is a practical demonstration of the reciprocity idea, namely, you help me to get business and I help you. While visiting there I learned the practical demonstration of this idea of the members of the Club to secure $10,000 and $20,000 business and another practical illustration of the San Francisco Rotary Club was the fact that one of the members phoned me that a friend of his had $2,000 in cash where he could get a position. I knew of a business that could be secured on these lines, and in 24 hours the deal was closed. This is a practical Rotary work."

"Work together, come together, talk business, explain what we are doing, and how best we can help each other. It is not expected that the Rotary members should cut loose from their present business associations, but when a new member of a new man arrives in town, it is expected that each member recommend the business of every other member. All things being equal the Rotary members are to be favored by the other members of the club. The Rotary Club should represent a distinct idea as evolved in the other Rotary Clubs, of a representative man of each line of business and all working together for each other's business advancement."

Advertise
Mr. W. J. Ashford of the Jackson Furniture Company said: "Keep up the advertising in Oakland will provide new through the Chamber of Commerce by delivering the goods when people come here, by having good stores, good goods, good streets and sidewalks. The Jackson Furniture Company believes that the city can keep the Oakland reputation by offering the people of Oakland, through the Oakland and San Francisco newspapers, the best of value than they can get by crossing the bay. The printer's ink in the newspapers will develop business and all working together for each other's business advancement."

Resolve on Exclusiveness
To the officers and members of the Tri-City Rotary Club, wherever this beautiful city of Oakland, being already provided with two efficient, enthusiastic bodies of men. He solicited citizens, members of which organizations is virtually unrestricted. Therefore, it seems incumbent upon this club to assume a more exclusive and compact character, and to undertake more circumscribed duties.

It is further resolved that the membership in this club shall be restricted to one representative from each profession, business, trade, calling or occupation, resident or following his calling in Oakland, Berkeley or Alameda, provided that no person shall be elected to membership if he is engaged in a line of business already represented by a member of this club, unless the absence of such person is presented by a written request from the club who represents that line of business. Such presentation must be made within ninety days after the beginning of the season. The saving in funds for the season will pay for it.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR Maple Grove Food Products

Made by Sanitary Methods

A Discovery Constantly Used by Physicians and Surgeons.

There are many treatments advertised in the newspapers for the removal of superfluous hair, but there is little offered by the manufacturers of these preparations in the way of substantial evidence of their worth. This is not the case with the well known method, De-Miracle.

Dr. Bowen, who has made a thorough study of superfluous hair growth, speaking of a case in which he used De-Miracle, says: "I applied De-Miracle, and in a few minutes had her lip devoid of hair without any pain whatever. I instructed her to call again in two weeks, which she did. I found about one-fourth of the hair roots were not killed by the first application, so I made a second application. I saw her again in about a month, and found her lip as clear of hair as an infant's. I can heartily recommend De-Miracle for all the cases for which the manufacturers recommend it."

If De-Miracle were not the only non-poisonous and the best preparation in the world for the removal of superfluous hair, we could not get the endorsement of so many prominent physicians, surgeons, dermatologists, medical journals and magazines.

Better take a doctor's advice, don't be deceived by startling statements made by the false hair advertisers. Remember, after you have used worthless concoctions it will be harder to remove the hair. Therefore, don't let better to first investigate all hair removers before you try any of them.

We will send you absolutely free in plain sealed envelope a 54 page booklet, containing full information concerning this remarkable treatment, as well as testimonials of prominent physicians, surgeons, dermatologists, medical journals and the principal magazines. You should read this booklet before you try anything. It treats the subject exhaustively. Write to the Dr. MIRACLE CHEMICAL CO., Desk 613, 1905 Park Avenue, New York, simply saying you want this booklet, and it will be mailed sealed at once.

Sanitary Conditions Perfect

At the time of opening its works, Manager McBurney, consulted with Dr. K. A. Archibald, first assistant physician to the Board of Health of this city, as to ideal conditions under which the company should and would produce the output. The company's plans of operation were submitted to Dr. Archibald, and suggestions made by him were immediately complied with. This was done as an evidence of the company's intention to boast with absolute truth of the conditions under which its ice cream, candies and other confections are sold to the retail trade.

Already there are four wagons operated supplying the daily increasing demand for the company's goods, and this number will shortly have to be augmented. Wherever it has been possible, machinery has displaced the handling of the edibles used to avoid human contact and no pains are spared by Mr. McBurney to continually supervise every phase and detail of the actual manufacture of the company's products. No ice cream is being sold to street peddlers, as it is not felt that the company could then adequately protect its foodstuffs from adulteration or unclean handling. In fact, this policy is being pursued to such an extent that nothing is being sold to irresponsible retailers on the same ground.

Public Inspection Invited

So confident is the Maple Grove Ice Cream Company of its claims for superiority that it extends to the general public, whether connected with the trade or not, a personal invitation to visit the plant at any time during working hours that the thorough sanitation of which it is so justly proud may be proven by visual inspection.

The officers of the company are: President, George G. MacKinnon; vice-president and manager, Frank McBurney; secretary, K. A. Archibald. The board of directors consists of the three officers named and Messrs. A. M. Sallinger, one of Oakland's most prominent real estate owners and operators, and T. C. Robinson, the well-known attorney.

Many By-Products

Not only does the company manufacture ice cream, but its cornucopia output is larger than that of any other factory on the Pacific Coast. It also makes fruit syrups and juices which are unexcelled, and candies, nut confections and popcorn novelties under the same sanitary conditions and with the same scrupulous care and supervision as that which marks its manufacture of ice cream.

$15,000 FIRE NEXT DOOR TO A CHURCH

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—Several hundred worshippers in St. Patrick's Church sat through a service last night listening to the crashing of breaking glass and the pumping of fire engines, and a $15,000 blaze destroyed the two upper floors of a five-story building next door to them. The flames were discovered at 7 o'clock at 750 Mission street, and as all the doors were bolted the firemen had to chop holes in the roof before they could put any water on the fire.

The burned floors were occupied as showrooms by the Western Hat and Cap Company. The loss here was about $5000, but such a quantity of water was poured through the openings in the roof that the entire building was flooded.

The California Electric and Flannel Company on the third floor and the A. M. Armour Overalls Company on the second floor, suffered a loss of about $10,000 from the water. The Southern and the American Novelty Company lost about $500.

PLUNGED TO RIVER'S BED TO ESCAPE A COLLISION

NORFOLK, Va., April 10.—At the risk of losing their own lives and to avoid a collision with the naval collier Hannibal, the crew of the submarine boat Plunger made a terrific plunge to the bottom of the Elizabeth river near the navy yard today. The Plunger was out for practice in submarine work and while submerged, with the exception of two feet of her rigging, the Hannibal came along in tow of the tug Mohawk. The naval officer in the Hannibal did not discover the tiny stick out of the water until too late and the anchor of the collier was thrown overboard to prevent a collision.

Just when it appeared that there would be a collision despite the efforts of the Hannibal to avoid one, the tiny little craft suddenly shot down to the bottom of the river and came up some yards away from the Hannibal, safe and sound. There were seven men on the Plunger and had the Hannibal struck her it is believed that all of them would have met death like rats in a trap.

'TUBBING' NOT REALLY HAZING

EUGENE, Or., April 10.—'Tubbing' is not properly hazing, according to Dr. P. Campbell, president of the University of Oregon, and is not so regarded in the Oregon Institution or others, he declares. President Campbell, one of those who testified today before the committee of the board of regents, which is investigating the hazing of Ralph Bristol, a student from Portland, last winter.

Bristol is now in the insane asylum and his father, J. N. Bristol, who is prosecuting the investigation, declares that it was the hazing that made the boy insane. Students testified that Bristol was ducked in a tub of cold water because he was continually late to meals, and declared that he was not otherwise injured.

NOY LOGICAL CANDIDATE, SAY ALAMEDA BUSINESSMEN His Interests All Centered in the City

(By EDWARD A. O'BRIEN.)
ALAMEDA, April 10.—On Monday the election for mayor and several councilmen will take place in this city. There has been interjected late into the contest several side-issues, one of which is the question of local option, by voting precincts, in the matter of the running of places for the sale of intoxicating liquors.

The campaign has been one of the most exciting which has ever taken place in this city. It has, in some respects, been one of the most demoralizing which has ever been experienced here, for the reason that anonymous libel cards have been issued in the interest of one of the parties to the fight, and the opposing forces have offered a reward of $100 for the discovery and the arrest of the author of the libel.

In the main, the Republicans and the members of other political affiliations who are in favor of the progress of this city are allied in support of William H. Noy for Mayor. Noy has been a resident of this city for nearly two-score years. For the greater part of that time he has been in business here and is known to and admired by every resident of the Emerald City. For the past two years he has been a member of the City Council. He has been of the minority, but he has, however, been the means of saving many thousands of dollars to this community by his official acts in conjunction with those of the minority and Mayor E. K. Taylor, the first Mayor under the new charter of the city.

Predicts Noy's Election
The sentiment of the business men of this community, as also that of the workmen, is that Mr. Noy will be elected by a handsome majority, and these, as well as also other classes of the community, are zealously working with that end in view.

An idea of the views of the people may be obtained from the appended interviews with the president of the Chamber of Commerce, with one of the largest property-owners in the city, as also with Mayor Taylor, all of whom have the interests of the people at heart, which appear in this connection:

Has Interests in City
"My reasons for supporting Mr. Noy for the position of mayor," said President Hammond of the Chamber of Commerce, "are to my mind self-evident to the business men of this city. In the first place, all of his interests are centered here. He has been tried and not found wanting. The most successful municipal administration we have yet had here has been that of the present Mayor Taylor. The salvation of the city, from a business standpoint, lies in the development of the north side, a project of which Mr. Noy is heartily in favor. Our boulevards must not only be maintained, but there are more of them wanted. Mr. Noy was always the mayor's right hand man in the council and he was, at the same time, the right-hand man of the people. I know the needs of this beautiful city. I know what it can do in the way, also, of industrial activity and I know that Mr. Noy is alive to all its needs and all its possibilities and as mayor he will not allow an opportunity to pass which will tend to the advancement of his community. The citizens generally, particularly those owning property in our community, are in favor of Mr. Noy for the responsible position of mayor and will show this on Monday next, when they will give him a great majority for the position to which he has been nominated."

Favors Noy
F. N. Delaney, who, in a special manner, represents the greater number of business men and who is near the head of the list of the taxpayers of this city, is also strongly in favor of Mr. Noy for the position of Mayor. Mr. Delaney has the interests of the city at heart and is willing to commit them to the care of Mr. Noy, as will appear from the following:

"Mr. Noy has been my friend for thirty-five years. He has never failed me. He has never done a wrong to a fellow citizen. He has always stood for the upbuilding of the city of Alameda. Thousands of the people are only too willing now to show their appreciation of this fact. His career as a city official has been marked by genial and honest conduct which has endeared him to the people of this city. No dishonest or self-seeking measure was ever countenanced by him. There is no hypocrisy in his make-up. His motto has been: 'Let the People Rule,' and the people have ruled in so far as it was possible for them so to do since he has been a member of the council, although he has been only in the minority of that organization. He has striven to bring the finances of the city into a business condition and has worked for the establishment of a practical system of municipal accounts. Now, after a term of two years in the council, every person admits that as a result of the efforts of Mr. Noy, there was a time in which all the departments of the city were in as good a condition as they are at the present time. He stands as the servant of the people and is willing to do the people's bidding and the people are well aware of the fact and will give him this at the election on Monday next."

LIKENS JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER TO CAPTAIN KIDD, THE PIRATE

Government's Chief Counsel in Standard Oil Trial Flays Rockefeller Methods

TYRANNY OF BLACK FLAG NO WORSE THAN THEM

'God Pity the American People' For Their Blindness, Says Attorney Kellogg

ST. LOUIS, April 10.—John D. Rockefeller of Standard Oil fame, was likened today to Captain Kidd of piracy fame by Frank E. Kellogg, chief counsel for the government in the hearing of the government's case against the Standard Oil Company, which ended in the federal oil court here at 4:15 this afternoon. Kellogg's argument closed the case, which had been argued all of the past week before Judges Sanborn, Rock, Vandevanter and Adams sitting en banc. A decision in the case is not expected before fall.

Kellogg characterized the entire line of defense as "weak," declaring that the oil company's attorneys "did not know what they were talking about."

'God Pity the Americans'
"They talk about John D. Rockefeller having faith and courage in his enterprise and being a good business man. So did Captain Kidd have faith and courage and he flew the black flag of piracy and tyranny," said Kellogg during his argument. "God pity the American people," he continued, "if they take this as an example of foresight, thrift and business courage."

The Standard Oil Company has operated as we have shown, over sixty secret companies. Why did it buy over one hundred refineries and disintegrate them? This is not thrift, courage and business foresight. It is one of the many acts of the Standard Oil Company to stifle and kill competition. It is an example of its dishonest competition, oppression and vice that has characterized the working of this monopoly.

Profits Prove Monopoly
Kellogg occupied the entire day in closing the case. He confined himself to an argument of the facts, during which he reviewed every phase of the case advanced by the government. Kellogg declared that the Standard Oil Company's profits were unreasonably and absurdly high, and that the company's evidence of a monopoly in the oil business.

He asserted that $30,000,000 of the capitalization of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey is in the form of water and that $15,000,000 of it has never been paid for or was an overvaluation, according to the testimony, and the other like amount a stock dividend. He said it was possible to understand how Standard Oil could obtain preferential rates, when it is recalled that one time the Standard Oil Company loaned $32,000,000 to Wall Street, with the exception of Kellogg and his attorneys and judges in the case left St. Louis on early trains tonight or got away this morning for Washington. Kellogg stayed over to play golf at the country club tomorrow and will leave Sunday night.

Decision Next Fall
Judge Sanborn asked when a decision in the case might be expected, and he had no means of knowing, it was stated upon authoritative source tonight that the four judges would spend their vacation together at Lake Michigan, in August, when the opinion will be written. It is further stated upon the same authoritative source of information that Judge Rock will write the decision.

Defendant, Rockefeller refused to acknowledge the morning salutations of those whom he suspected of opposing him, including by prejudicial error many who voted for him.

Open to Reason
"Noy is open to argument and admits error; Rockefeller never has been known to admit that he ever made a mistake. Noy is brave. He has answered every question asked him during this campaign; Rockefeller says 'I'm neutral' and has declined to answer any letter or question."

Rockefeller has made many false accusations proved none. He has foolishly invoked his record, and, when confronted with it and proof made that he was in error, he 'stands' silent and is neither brave nor gentlemanly enough to retract. Rockefeller relies upon promises of what he will do, but utterly fails to show any results due to his initiative or effort while sixteen years in office, except that he claims to be the father and founder of the electric light plant and City Hall.

His light plant was bought eighteen months before he was first elected, and the City Hall bonds were voted and the lot was purchased before he became a city official.

Backed By Labor
"Noy is backed by the workmen and by the local merchants and leading citizens; Rockefeller by all the 'knockers' who failed to get jobs and some 'reformers' who always oppose an administration, and by some good citizens who don't know Rockefeller as I do."

Mr. Rockefeller is supported by four Councilmen who never set with him in the Council and stands discredited by fourteen Trustees who served with him. Mr. Noy has aided and supported my administration. We have secured results. Mr. Rockefeller, for motives of revenge and political capital, has stirred up factional strife in our Council and bitterly opposed every effort to make good our promises. This may be politics, but it is not Mr. Noy's brand—and is not evidently good citizenship or loyalty to lovely Alameda."

STRANGE STORY SURROUNDS OLD VIOLIN

Is Mute Witness of Poverty and Genius That Existed Centuries Ago

PROVES TO BE COVETED ORIGINAL STRADIVARIUS

Was Brought to Coast By Italians and Sold to Appease Hunger

SAN JOSE, April 10.—A strange and pathetic story of poverty and genius, dating back for several hundred years, was unfolded today when an apparently dilapidated violin sold to a local pawnshop for $1.25 was purchased by a San Francisco musician for $9.50. It was a Stradivarius, searched for by musicians all over the world and one of the original eight manufactured.

A week ago an old man, tottering and bowed with the weight of years, entered the Weinberg Collateral Bank carefully holding under his arm the old instrument. The man was Juan Cavalla, 78 years old, a resident of Santa Clara and descendant of a one-time prominent and wealthy Italian family of this country. The old violin had neither strings nor keys, and no one knew the value of the instrument.

Story of a Violin
Cavalla related his pathetic story of the instrument and his sorrow to part with it. The old violin had been in the family for generations. It was brought to America from Italy when the family came here nearly three-quarters of a century ago. The family passed away one by one and Cavalla was left with the violin among a few paltry possessions occupying a dilapidated little hut on the outskirts of Santa Clara.

A traveling salesman from a San Francisco firm came to San Jose two days ago and looked over a number of instruments in the pawnshop. Among these he noticed the Stradivarius, but said nothing. He was given the permission to take the instrument to San Francisco and returned today and purchased the violin.

VOLCANOE RAGE IN EXTREME NORTHWEST

Many Violent Eruptions in Bogoslov Group Are Reported From Alaska

MYSTERIOUS ISLES ATTRACT SCIENTISTS

Government Station at Sitka Records Series of Wonderful Seismic Waves

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—Professor George Davidson, president of the Seismological Society, has received from Alaska, through the agency of the Alaska Commercial Company, an account of a violent eruption in the Bogoslov group of volcanoes which lies in the Bering sea, about thirty-five miles north of Unalakleet and thirty miles northwest of Alaska Island. The report, relating to formations that have attracted a great deal of scientific attention of late, is from the Alaska Company's agent at Unalakleet, Mr. Gray, written in March, and is as follows:

Unusual Activity

"We have been informed by some of the Western natives and also by Captain Lee that the Bogoslov volcanoes have been unusually active since the first of this month. Captain Lee observed great quantities of smoke and steam issuing from the Bogoslov islands, being from thirty to fifty miles off, while Makushin natives report seeing reflection of fire at night, they being nearly fifty miles from the volcanoes. Some living at Captain's Harbor, about five miles from Unalakleet, claim to have heard sounds like the firing of cannon."

Seismic Waves Recorded

At the time of the eruption reported by Mr. Gray, says Professor Davidson, the seismograph of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey at Sitka, under the charge of Dr. Harry Edmonds, gave a graphic record of the seismic waves coming from the west of north. The distance from Bogoslov to Sitka is about 140 miles, with oceanic depths of three miles between the two places and with the intervening islands of more than 5000 feet elevation. The Bogoslov's have risen from a depth of about a mile.

RISK LIFE IN SEA

Sailors Battle With Waves But Shipwrecked Men Are Only Stanchions

BERKELEY, April 10.—There was an alarm of shipwreck on the Berkeley waterfront this afternoon when a small skiff was seen struggling half mile from shore, with three men apparently clinging to its sides and in the last throes of exhaustion. A stiff breeze was blowing from the Golden Gate, which sent breakers piling over the pier and added to the excitement. Some zealous spectator first telephoned word of the affair to the police and Chief Vollmer sent Officers Jones and Lee to the front with orders to impress any available craft into service for the rescue. The alarm soon became general and crowds of excited men and boys crowded the beach and offered suggestions as to the most expeditious means of reaching the wave-tossed boat.

Start to Rescue

John Barilla and John O'Neill were the first to get into action. Procuring a small boat from the wharf at the Grayson-Owens stock yards they put away with all speed possible. At least 100 people watched their efforts at beating through the rough waters. A half hour later they returned with an empty boat. What the people on shore believed was the struggling forms of three men in the water turned out to be three stanchions hanging over the side of the boat. The men and O'Neill were in serious danger on their way back. The seas washed over the sides of the boat and they were forced to bail the water out with their hats and coats and were almost exhausted when they landed at the end of the new municipal wharf.

ISLAND CITY
STEADILY GROWS

Inquiries From the East From Prospective Investors Continue to Multiply

ALAMEDA, April 10.—During the past week there have been many applications to the real estate men as well as to the Chamber of Commerce for home sites by outside parties. The city is steadily growing and the prospects are bright. The Chamber of Commerce is steadily growing and the prospects are bright. The Chamber of Commerce is steadily growing and the prospects are bright.

New Buildings

Building is going on in all sections of the city, and new houses are springing up with prospects of more to be located in the near future. Prices are steady, and Alameda really is now practically at par with the prospects of a real estate boom. No boom is expected, nor do the merchants or buyers want a boom, for the reason that this would make a false price on real estate.

East End Growth

The remarkable growth at the East End is noted, and residents all over town have their eyes on this choice property. In the vicinity of important buyers have been made, and no house is to be erected in that vicinity to cost less than $4000. This will insure select residence in this section and consequently the value of the surrounding property will increase.

Ready Conditions

Ralph A. Russell, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, says: "I have investigated ready conditions in this city and I believe so much in the value of Alameda real estate that I have invested $4000 in a home at Lincoln avenue and High street. This is purely a residence town. I am, as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, daily in receipt of hundreds of letters asking me to locate Easterners for homes or investment. I will state to you that Alameda is going ahead rapidly, and the Chamber of Commerce is the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, of this city are boosting because they have sound foundation upon which to base their statements as to the value of Alameda real estate."

Really Business Improving

William Hammond, Jr., of the real estate firm of Hammond & Hammond, reports that business in the real estate line has improved during the last week and he says that many applications have been made by large manufacturing interests who hope to locate here. Hammond says: "I am greatly pleased with the condition in the real estate market existing at the present time. I have been asked by many large firms to locate in the East to factory sites. They have been informed by the Chamber of Commerce and are now seeking to locate in Alameda. There are several developments in hand which have not been closed, but as soon as the final papers are signed the public will be informed of the importance of these great projects, which will tend to improve Alameda and will give employment to many hundreds of working-men."

Inquiries Multiplying

A. Randlett, of the firm of Doherty & Randlett, says regarding the realty situation today:

"There have been no big sales this week, but what phases us and which will benefit the city of Alameda is the fact that we are receiving daily inquiries from all over the State and country from those who desire homes here. Prices are steady, but I believe that Alameda has more valuable real estate for homes and business blocks than any city about the bay. I say this because before the real estate boom of 1907, the business I am in a position to know just how much Alameda has to offer here. The East End is going along rapidly and we are building homes all over the city in fact you may say that realty conditions in Alameda are excellent."

Property in the central portion of town, especially in the vicinity of Grand street and Central avenue, has increased wonderfully in value during the last two years, the value per front foot in many instances having advanced from $10 to $25. Property has recently changed hands and sold at $100 per foot that two years ago would not have brought $90. The demand for property in this neighborhood greatly exceeds the supply and small lots of from twenty-five to forty feet that have heretofore gone begging now find ready purchasers.

Rival Forces in Battle For Mayor-ality in Berkeley Enter Strife in Earnest

BERKELEY, April 10.—Beverly L. Hodgehead, candidate for mayor of Berkeley, made his first public address at a mass meeting at the Hillside Club house tonight. Earl H. Webb, president of the California Anti-Racetrack League, presided. Hodgehead reviewed at length the issues of the campaign and promised to carry out the intent of the new charter.

The candidate issued a signed statement denying that he had been instrumental in inducing Governor Gillett to sign a bill making changes in the medical profession. He says: "It has been reported to me that word has been circulated among the physicians that I went to Sacramento and was instrumental in inducing Governor Gillett to sign a bill making serious changes in the medical profession. I presume that I should feel proud to learn that I have so much sentiment with any chief executive, but I must confess: 'First—That I have no acquaintance with Governor Gillett and that I never was in Sacramento on any such errand. 'Second—That I never heard of any such bill. 'Third—That I find that no such bill has been passed at all.' Hodgehead was well received, and at the conclusion of the meeting steps were taken to hold a series of like gatherings in various parts of the town during the next two weeks.

Spear Forces Ready

The Spear forces will have their initial public meeting in Lincoln Hall on Wednesday evening next. The candidates are beginning to get busy interviewing the voters. A. M. Paulsen, a plumber, who is running for the commissionership, will organize his forces the coming week and start off a one-man campaign. Charles A. Blank, the manager of Castle Brothers & Wolfe, an importing house of San Francisco, is also a candidate for the same office. Roy I. DEATH CLAIMS
OIL FIRE VICTIM

Foreman Clarence G. Perrault Succumbs to Injuries Sustained at Richmond

RICHMOND, April 10.—Clarence G. Perrault, foreman of the ship repairing department of the Standard Oil Company's plant at Richmond, who was caught in the flood of burning oil following the bursting of a manhole in one of the stills Friday morning, died at an early hour this morning. Perrault was one of the men who was in the gate-man's shanty where Joseph Granger met almost instant death.

An employee of the plant for several years, Perrault made his home in Richmond. He is survived by a widow and three children. He was 43 years of age. The other men injured by the fire are only slightly hurt and their rapid recovery is conceded. These include Motorman Christopher Smith and Superintendent of the Labor Department L. M. Moore, Robert McFarland and R. R. Montgomery.

The total loss to the Standard Oil Company in dollars and cents, it is said, will not exceed $5000. The death list includes Joseph Granger, gateman; Charles H. Lawrence, foreman of the marine department, and Clarence Perrault.

BOOSTING CAMPAIGN
WORKS WONDERS

F. W. Hawley, representing the city department of M. T. Milne company, says: "Our city business for the past month has been very lively and of a substantial nature, and we are now looking forward to one of our best business years. Our sales have been principally in business properties, although we had quite a doing among the home seekers for tiny cottages well located."

"We attribute the present activity partly to real estate men and merchants generally, who have taken hold of the Chamber of Commerce and Y. M. C. A. boosting campaign. Their energetic work will not only furnish Oakland with two fine new buildings, but their active circulation among business men of the city does much in the way of waking up the people on general issues pertinent to Oakland's welfare."

"We also credit THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE for its part in this great work. It is a booster. We cannot see, with all our natural advantages, contemplated improvements, and new life and energy displayed at this present time by our citizens, why outside capital should not be attracted to Oakland as it never has been before."

PLAN TO SMOTHER NOY
MEETING PROVES FAILURE
Great Enthusiasm Aroused for Candidate

ALAMEDA, April 10.—The attempt made by the prohibition element to smother the Noy meeting last night on Black street proved a dismal failure. While the prohibition element did its best to discredit the grand mass meeting held by William H. Noy, who is running for Mayor of this city, and used a band of men to break down the doors, the meeting proved to be one of the great farces of the campaign. Within the Noy rooms, with Dr. Tisdale presiding, a most enthusiastic meeting was held and whenever Noy's name was mentioned, applause and hurrahs were the outcome. That Noy will be elected as Mayor of the city of Alameda is beyond all doubt. Prominent citizens of the city endorsed him at last night's meeting and from sentiments expressed, the councilman who had made a record for himself on behalf of the city, will walk into the Mayor's chair with colors flying.

Hynes Speaks

Assistant District Attorney W. H. L. Hynes made a strong address in support of Noy and at the end of his remarks the applause amounted to nothing more than an endorsement of Noy. Hynes said: "If there is to be any mud slinging, why do not the opponents of Mr. Noy strike from the front instead of trying to knife him in the back? Don't strike over another man's shoulder for the purpose of hurting a man against whom nothing can be said. This campaign is being carried on on the merits of Mr. Noy and not on the demerits of his opponents."

William Hammond, Jr., president of the Chamber of Commerce, addressed the meeting and stated that he was vitally interested in the welfare of the city. He declared that Noy had always stood back of him when the betterment of the city has been concerned. One of the strongest speeches of the evening was made by J. S. Daveler, who dwelt upon the allegation made by the Forrester forces relative to the alleged subsidizing of the press of Alameda, denouncing them as false.

Endorses Noy

Mayor E. K. Taylor was referred to by Dr. F. W. D'Arcy as the man who had done more for the city relative to improvements than any other man who had been connected with city affairs. And he endorsed William H. Noy on account of his strong standing with the policy which has been forwarded and carried out by the present administration. He said this: "If you should elect Noy as the head of your city it would be the best thing you could do. If you vote for his opponent it would be the worst thing that could happen to this city."

Interests in Alameda

Dr. D'Arcy then referred to the fact that there had been no mud-slinging on the side of the Noy forces during the campaign, but did say that such work had been done by the opponents of Noy, he dealt upon the fact that Forrester lies across the bay and would not be able to be present at the council meetings, while Noy, who had his interests here, lives here, pays his taxes here, and provided himself to be present at all meetings.

When Dr. Tisdale introduced William H. Noy, the candidate for Mayor, there was a rousing cheer and it was several minutes before the meeting was called to order. Noy made a calm statement as to the grounds upon which he stands. He pointed to his record when he served as Councilman and called attention to the fact that he had promised to stand back of the city of Alameda, and he kept his promise. He said that he always had stood back of the best interests of the city and that in the event of his election he would continue to do so. Noy said:

"Follow citizens, I want you to be careful how you cast your vote. Vote for the man whom you think is the better of the two. If my opponent is better than I in your estimation, elect him. If you believe that I am more capable of serving you in the capacity of mayor, vote for me. I do not solicit your vote, but I leave it for you. Let the people decide who is the better man of us both, capable of serving you as the head of this city."

Praises Noy

Paul K. Buckley made a strong address, calling attention to the water question, which has interested the city of Alameda. He paid a high tribute to Mayor E. K. Taylor's administration and strongly urged the support of Noy, who had advocated all the betterments and improvements during Taylor's administration. Buckley's address was one of the strongest made by anyone present at the meeting and as he took his chair beside Mayor Taylor on the platform he was greeted with prolonged applause.

Assemblyman Dennis Olin made a strong speech and asked that the citizens of this city interest themselves in citizenship and elect William H. Noy, who, he believed, was the man to sit in the chair at the head of the city's government.

BEGIN WORK ON
CATHOLIC CHURCH

New Edifice at Elmhurst Will Be an Imposing Structure

ELMHURST, April 10.—Work was started this week excavating for the new Catholic church and parochial residence on Ivy avenue and East Fourth street. J. R. Paulkes, a local contractor, secured the contract to erect the building as well as a structure to be used temporarily for church purposes at Melrose.

Rev. Father Kelly has had the hearty support and co-operation of the entire community in the raising of funds which make the erection of the church an assured fact. When it is considered that practically every resident is paying for their homes, the building of this additional place of worship will be a boon to the community. To Mrs. L. E. Kelly, of San Leandro, who donated the lot on which the structure will be erected, the banks of the parish have been extended. They recognize the gift not only as a boon to the church, but as a great thing for Elmhurst.

The committee of ladies attending to details are enthusiastic in their work and have been extremely successful in raising funds, rendering valuable assistance to Father Kelly and the building committee.

WILLIAM ESTES, ONCE
SLAVE, CALLED BY DEATH

MELROSE, April 10.—William Estes, who has blacked the boots of Melrose residents for many years, was absent from his stand Monday for the first time in the memory of the oldest inhabitant. He died Thursday morning from pneumonia, and his funeral was held this afternoon from his residence in Elmhurst.

The aged man was born in slavery and told many tales of the days before Abraham Lincoln freed the negro race. He earned the respect and friendship of all who patronized his stand, and was a familiar figure on the streets of the town. The business men have sent a floral wreath to his sorrowing family. He was buried in Evergreen cemetery.

LARGE SHIP ARRIVES
OFF BERKELEY WHARF

BERKELEY, April 10.—The steamer "Willapa" arrived this morning at the wharf of the West Berkeley Landing Company from Gray's Harbor, with 300,000 feet of pine lumber for Berkeley, most of which was in the larger sizes. The boat will clear Monday for the north.

SCHOOL CHILDREN
EXAMINE FLOWERS

First Excursion of Juvenile Horticultural Society of San Leandro a Success

ELMHURST, April 10.—The first excursion of the Juvenile Horticultural Society of San Leandro was held this afternoon under the personal direction of Hugo H. Lillenthal of Berkeley, founder of the national association. A large number of children from the public schools went on the trip, visiting the larger gardens and fields of San Leandro and vicinity for the purpose of studying the growth of plants and flowers close to nature.

This is the first of a series of excursions that will be held by the horticultural society which was recently formed under the auspices of the Alta Mira Club, and from the interest displayed by the young students they will prove an entire success. Five valuable prizes have been offered by the Alta Mira Club for the best notes on these excursions by the children. Similar pilgrimages to the vegetable and flower patches and to the orchards of the town will be held throughout the summer.

MISSION STYLE
FOR NEW DEPOT

Western Pacific to Erect Two Story Structure at Fruitvale

FRUITVALE, April 10.—The Western Pacific Railway Company will erect their Fruitvale station on Fruitvale avenue and Washington street. It will be a two-story structure after the Mission style of architecture. It was at first proposed to put up a one-story building, but the rapid growth of Fruitvale has induced the railroad authorities to alter their plans.

A petition is being circulated, and is being widely signed, addressed to the Board of Supervisors, requesting that the approach to the station over Samuel Creek be bridged by a concrete span, doing away with the present wooden bridge. The heavy travel over the structure warrants the change, it is stated in the petition, and also from a standpoint of architecture the change would be welcomed. The railroad is one of the signers of the petition.

What Does
Your Mirror Say?

Does it cheerfully report an abundance of beautiful, well kept hair, or does it regretfully tell the story of hair neglect?

Your mirror may be anxious to please, but if you permit your friends to see dull, brittle and lusterless hair with possibly dandruff and falling hair, your mirror will have to reflect the same condition.

All of these unfortunate effects can be overcome by destroying their cause with

HERPICIDE

The Original Remedy that 'Kills the Dandruff Germ'

Dandruff, with its consequent hair injury and hair loss, is now known to be a highly contagious germ disease. It is caused by an invisible growth of vegetable character that finds lodgment in the sebaceous glands of the scalp. This growth disturbs the functions of the sebaceous glands, causing excessive oiliness or extreme dryness of the follicle to the papilla, where the adhesive process that extends down the follicle to the papilla, where the adhesions are loosened and the hair slips out. The value of Newbro's Herpicide in such cases is quite extraordinary. Its intelligent use will correct every condition short of chronic baldness and thus permit the hair to resume its natural luster and abundance.

MISS EDNA IRVINE

A noted Theatrical Star, whose photograph is here reproduced, writes as follows: "I can most heartily endorse Newbro's Herpicide. It is delightful for the hair and I could not do without it."

(Signed) EDNA IRVINE.

Hotel Westminster, Irvine Place, New York.

More men and women have gotten positive results from the use of NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE than from all other hair remedies combined.

Send 10 cents in stamps to THE HERPICIDE COMPANY, Dept. 14, Detroit, Mich., for sample and booklet. Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00. At Drug Stores. When you call for Herpicide, do not accept a substitute. Applications at prominent Barber Shops.

Portland Team Gives Athenians Drubbing

Owing to Hogan's poor control over the ball during the first three innings, the Athenians were able to pile up a score of six runs which gave them a lead that was never in danger of being lost. The rest of the game was a mere formality, the Athenians scoring two more runs in the fourth and fifth innings. The final score was 10 to 1 in favor of the Athenians.

Land on Hogan

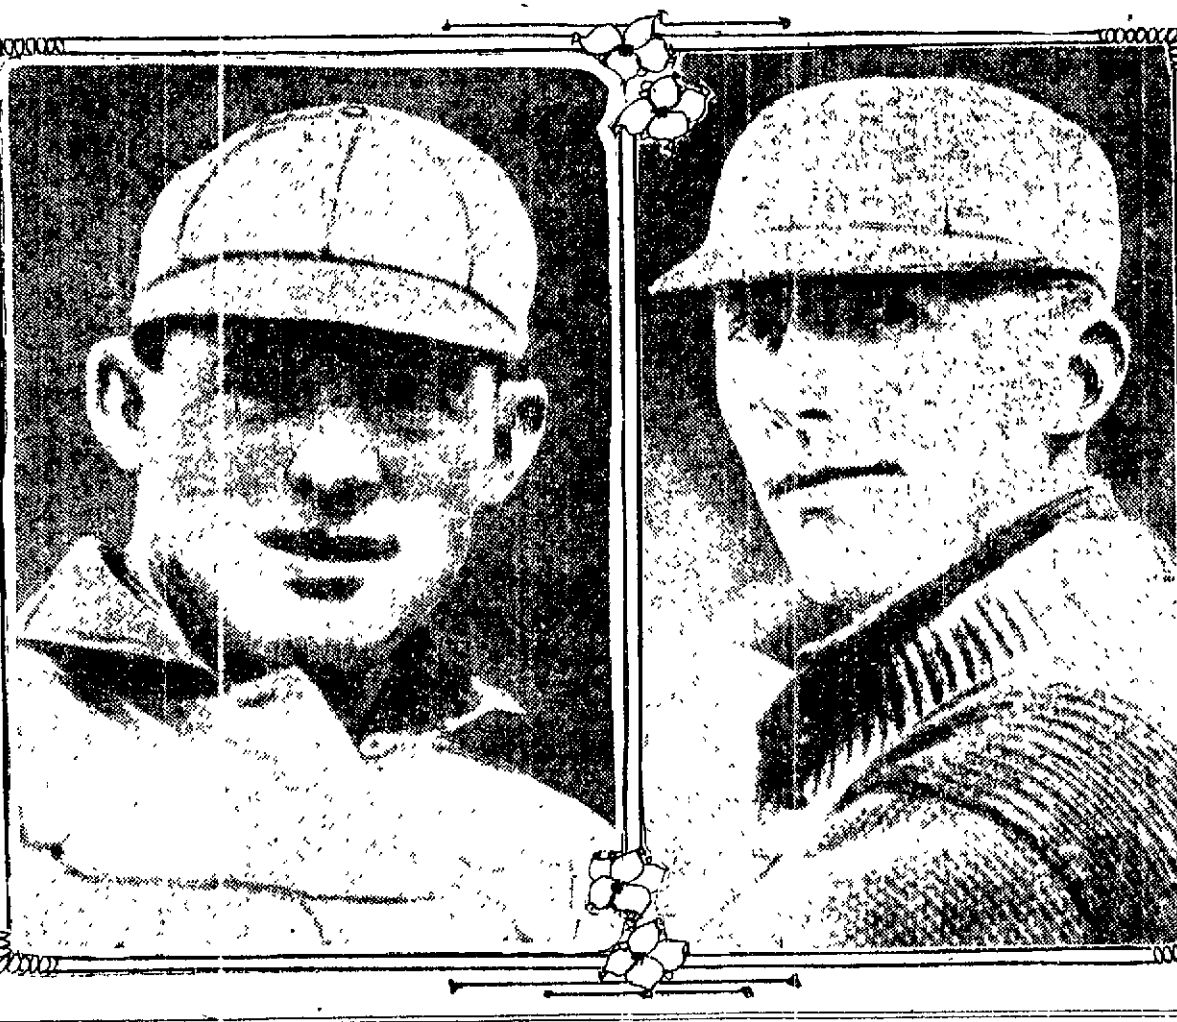

Hogan romanced got through the first frame with his life, but in the second inning he was hit by a line drive from the pitcher. Hogan was hit in the head and was unable to continue. The game was suspended for several hours. Hogan was later taken to the hospital.

did not run either. What he would have done had the contest gone the limit without a knock-down there is no telling, but there is one thing, and that is Fitzsimmons would not have won.

Dared Fitz to Fight

Since that time parties interested in the deal have told me that Fitz received $2000 for his part of the deal, and any man who would do what he did for that amount in a game fight would be admitted for his pluck if nothing else.

Nelson's Great Gameness

Now for our friend, Battling Nelson. His gallantry was of a different nature, but under it Fitz might have wavered. My reason for saying that the Battler is the gamest man in the ring is the memory of the Goldfield fight with Gans.

Millers Again Take Invaders in Camp

Stockton, 9; Oakland, 2.

Had Reuter known what was in store for him he would never have pitched yesterday's game. The Stockton band of fighters went after him hammer and tongs and never once let up until they had scored nine runs.

Two Home Runs

The up-country state commenced a cannonade upon Reuter's spirit light of the stock. In the first inning two runs were made when Miller was safe on Sherran's error and was brought in by Fitz's home run in deep center. It was a corking crack and brought the fans on the field to their feet.

Score With Difficulty

The invaders had a difficult time making their tallies. Loucks was very stingy with hits and consented to allow only one. The first tick for Oakland when he fell on one of Loucks's curves for a three-bagger.

CARL CHRISTENSEN TAKES TOURIST AGENCY

W. H. EOGAN AT WHEEL, W. D. LONGGEAR, TREASURER AUTO VEHICLE COMPANY, MANUFACTURERS OF TOURIST CARS, AND H. L. PELTON, MANAGER OF NORTHERN BRANCH.

Mr. Christensen, who is the Alameda county agent for the Buick, closed negotiations with the Tourist company last week.

JEWEL AGENT TOURS SOUTH TOMORROW

D. E. McCabe, Pacific coast agent for Jewel motor cars, departs for Los Angeles tomorrow where he will establish the Southern California agency. McCabe expects to be out of town a fortnight. He will make the trip in his machine. Speaking of the southern agency, McCabe said: "All I want is a man who is a hustler and can appreciate the real value of a standard machine."

Kissel Kar Bears Inspection

The Western Electric Vehicle Company reports the sale of a 40-horse power Kissel Kar to R. C. Hobson of Oakland. Mr. Gardiner, in speaking of this sale, said that in all of his automobile experience he never knew a man to go more thoroughly into the details of a machine than did Mr. Hobson. Most people content themselves with a thorough demonstration of the car, but Mr. Hobson got into a suit of overalls, had the crank shaft opened and thoroughly inspected the crank shaft, the connecting rods and all the engine bearings. Then he went at the transmission, opening up the gear case and examining all the gears. He took the cap off the rear axle housing and examined the driving gear and differential. In fact, there was no part of the car that escaped his most careful scrutiny.

The company is particularly pleased with this sale, as it was the result of the most searching investigation and made after the car had been compared with various other makes. Mr. Hobson is no amateur at the game, having owned several other cars and having a very thorough mechanical experience. Under these circumstances, the sale speaks particularly well for the merits of the Kissel Kar.

Buick Sales

Buick sales for the past few days are: White Streak to A. C. Evans of East Oakland, traveling salesman for Getz & Company.

White Streak to W. A. Grier, who is city wharfman.

White Streak to A. W. Orry, capitalist.

White Streak to S. C. Bryant, of Fruitvale.

A roadster, 40, to Dr. Sill of East Oakland.

A short time ago the Buick factory increased the output to sixty cars a day, which will no doubt help to meet the demand if present prospects through the country make good this season.

Reos in Demand

Reo cars sold by W. L. Loos & Co. are still in great demand. It is proven by their week-end report of a sale to H. J. Bull, building inspector of Oakland; R. J. Pavert, a prominent builder of this city; Dr. A. M. Smith, this car making his second Reo; Dr. George R. Reine, who bought a Reo roadster, this is the third car for him, who after his first Reo bought another make, but again returns to the Reo, which speaks very well for this popular car.

The first is in receipt of a carload of Reos and will be in position to make immediate delivery to purchasers this week.

Report Sale to Masky

Frank Masky, one of the most prominent merchants of this city, has joined the ranks of motorists. The popular confectioner accepted delivery yesterday of one of the new Studebaker-Garford model "C" cars. Masky will use it a small portion of the time for business purposes, but, he says, he has planned many hunting and touring trips all over the State. Like all the recent Studebaker-Garford arrivals, Masky's car is equipped with magnetic plugs.

WOMEN TAKE PART IN GAME

Woman's part in the automobile "game" is becoming more and more conspicuous every week, according to the leading automobile man of the country, and this is more noticeable in the West than in any other part of the country. Out here on the Pacific Coast the automobile dealer says that she has become a very potent factor and point to the development, refinement and luxury of the higher-priced cars as an example of the man's influence upon the industry. The day of the demands that have been made of the manufacturer by women and his ability to meet these demands.

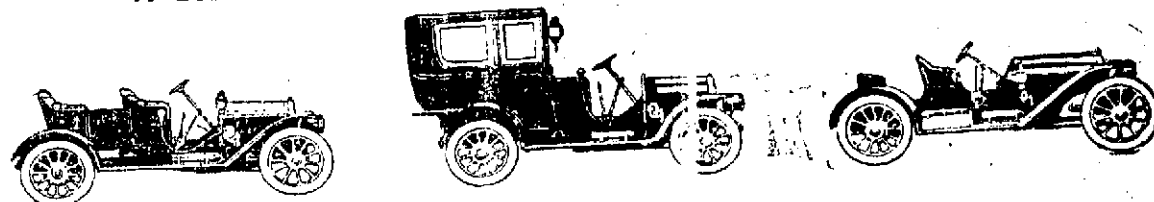

Woman has also become an expert at the wheel of the automobile and is vying with man for honors both for remarkable runs, taking cars over the most difficult places and in speed. California has produced her share of women motorists during the past twelve months, which easily places this State at the head of the list of accomplished women drivers. A decade ago woman's car concern in the auto industry was her fear for the safety of her brother or husband who had taken a hand in the exhilarating sport, but today she may be found in almost any of the leading automobile shops arguing points with the persuasive salesman, often putting questions of such a nature that the automobile expert himself must be called in to settle and explain a technical point which may prove of the greatest importance to her.

Among the women who have recently joined the ranks of the motorists of this coast is Mrs. John M. Lewis, wife of the well-known San Francisco attorney. Mrs. Lewis is a daughter of one of the wealthiest Californians and her home, as well as those of other members of her family in San Mateo, is one of the most magnificent in the State. Last week she became the owner of a new Studebaker automobile, and she is rapidly learning how to drive her car. Already Mr. and Mrs. Lewis have made elaborate plans for an extended tour of the West this summer. On these tours Mrs. Lewis will be at the wheel the greater part of the time.

Electricity Popular in Oakland. Have you noticed the constantly increasing number of electric vehicles in use in Oakland? Where only an occasional electric car was seen they are now noticed everywhere, and while some time ago they were considered more of a ladies' vehicle, they are now being used as much by gentlemen as by ladies. A great many physicians have seen the possibilities of the electric car and are now using it exclusively. This is largely accounted for by the fact that electric machines have been greatly improved and their mileage radius is a large one. The speed has also been increased and it is now not uncommon to see an electric driving at a twenty-five mile an hour gait. The first thing we know we will see the driver of an electric car arrested for violating the speed limit.

5660 Miles For Pullman. The Frank O. Renstrom Company of San Francisco is just in receipt of a communication from P. P. Wheeler of Harrisburg, Pa., in which he states that he recently covered 5660 miles in his Model 10 Pullman, without making a single adjustment or even cleaning a spark plug. Mr. Wheeler has on several occasions entered endurance runs and speed races and made perfect scores.

At 8:15 o'clock Y. Suzuki, a resident of Napa, while endeavoring to jump on a moving car, lost his balance and fell. He was taken in an ambulance to the hospital and treated for a severe lacerated wound of the scalp and a possible fracture of the skull.

RAILWAY MAIL SERVICE IS EXTENDED TO ALASKA

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Postmaster General Hitchcock has signed an order establishing on July 1 the thirteenth division of Railway Mail Service, with headquarters at Seattle, Wash. The new division includes Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and Alaska. It was carved out of territory comprising the eighth district, except Montana, which was part of the tenth. An additional division superintendent and an assistant superintendent will be appointed. The readjustment particularly gives Alaska headquarters in Seattle instead of San Francisco, and simplifies the arrangement of schedules to meet the ever-changing needs of that rapidly growing territory.

Belshaw Is a Candidate For Republican Nomina- tion for Governor

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—Well, former Senator Charles M. Belshaw wants to be Governor. He isn't going to be out for United States Senator at all, but is to try for the Governorship under the new primary law.

Belshaw has said it himself. He makes no bones about it. He has informed his friends—and also some of his enemies. And so he is to be reckoned with in next year's fight.

Of course he will expect the support of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League—and the active opposition of the labor unions, as he is one of the most persistent opponents of organized labor. He has lots of money, dash and directness. He is prominent as a Native Son and Mason, and knows the political game. His long experience in the Legislature has "equipped" him for public office. So from now on the political gossip must include the ambition of Belshaw.

Senator Marshall Black of Palo Alto—the man whose illness caused such a bobbery at the time the direct primary law was on for final passage—is being urged to get into the strife for Lieutenant-Governor.

On the Democratic side, Senator Ed Miller of Tulare has said flatly that he wants to try for the Governorship. Miller was about the most popular of the Senators at Sacramento, and isn't particularly offensive to either or any of the Democratic factions. He has money and ability, and though he was for a time called "General," because he once failed of the Democratic nomination for Surveyor-General, he seems to have outgrown the josh. Beyond that, he comes from one of the few Democratic counties that are left, and so, why shouldn't he be the candidate of the unwashed and the untutored?

But if Governor Gillett makes up his mind to run for Governor again it isn't going to make a pin's difference whether Belshaw wants the Republican nomination or Miller gets the Democratic compliment. The Governor hasn't decided yet—should he decide to run, the thing is up for everybody else.

We can't seem to get any life into our Mayoralty campaign over here. The thirty-eighth district Republican Club the other night tried to get Senator L. J. Wolfe into the fray: but his health is bad and he is going away for rest. We now hear that the wife of James Rolph Jr. will not let him run after he has been in training for the place all these months. Tim Sullivan's man, William Crocker, the retired planing mill man, seems to awaken no interest except among those who think he is William H. Crocker, the banker, and that his candidacy would mean the opening of a great sack. Nobody cares whether McNab nominates Coroner Leland for Mayor on the Democratic ticket or not. We hear feebly that the Go-Gos and the Graft Prosecution party will throw their strength to Police Commissioner Fred Sanborn, who was on the Grand Jury that brought in all the indictments. But you can hardly raise a cluck on the subject even among the professional politicians.

There is something of a ferment going on in Southern chivalry circles. The ferment is caused by the formation of the Southern Club, with Chief Justice Beatty at the head of its Advisory Board. Invitations to join the membership have been sent out with a wide and lavish hand. So freely have they been distributed that in two instances I know of one recipient's only claim to southern birth was that he was born in Southern Germany and the other that he first saw the light "South of Market."

But the ferment is not over this unchivalric promiscuity. It is stirred by southerners who argue that it is time to drop all distinctions in America.

"Suppose the Yankees should organize a Northern Club, what would we think of that?" inquire the opposing southerners. "Suppose the Yankees said they wanted to inculcate the New England habit of pie for breakfast? Wouldn't that be just as sensible as keeping up the corn pone and possum fad? It's about time we quit all this sectionalism and learned how to tote together."

The "dollar of our daddies" is doomed. No more with the cartwheel jingle merrily in the trousers pocket, giving a comfy feeling of wealth and opportunities for spending. Soon the big round dollar will be no more.

The mint is coining no dollars. It is turning out the halves and quarters with great speed, but never a dollar comes from the dies. And all this seems to indicate that an Eastern prejudice has put its blight upon a fine, fat coin.

A good many years ago New York turned its nose against the dollar piece. So the coin left the Eastern seaboard. It is of the rarest to see a dollar pass a counter there now. Chicago was a good while in taking up the fad; but it got there in time. And the dollar, like the course of Empire, took its westward way.

But now the big piece is despised of government, and it seems destined for the melting pot and the collection of the numismatist.

An aesthetic young woman, almost as bright as the Examiner's Cholly Francisco, came to me the other day with a job for Burbank that will tax all his powers of wizardry. She proposed that he should put a pleasant odor into California's State flowers. There is a task "for all that a man has of fortitude and delicacy."

When the debate was on as to the selection of the State's flowers and the eschscholtzia was proposed, a legislative cynic said, "Why, it has an unpronounceable name and an impossible smell."

To be sure we have rid the blossom of that awful name between a belch and a sneeze, and the copo de oro—cup of gold—is beautiful and appropriately descriptive. But the glorious, golden poppy still carries the odor of the civis undesirables (Bierce), and what could be more patriotic or romantic than for Burbank to woo to our flower the seductive odor of the rose and the panting fragrance of the violet. Of course, there is no money in it; but Burbank isn't "out for the stuff."

"The apparel oft proclaims the man."

If you are much around town you may notice a brazened, bent little fellow whose nervous actions are strangely reminiscent. But there is something lacking. You can't place the fellow, and yet you know you have seen him before. If you persistently inquire at last you will find some one to say:

"Why, don't you know him? That's White Hat McCarthy."

And so it is—White Hat McCarthy without the hat. Better without salt or Hamlet without the Prince of Denmark are real and potent compared to this man without the distinguishing mark that made him famous across the continent. He was far more famous than "Black Hat McCarthy," famous in the back field at polo and the son of Millionaire Andrew McCreery.

But without his fuzzy old "beaver plug" White Hat McCarthy is an unconsidered trifle of a man. No one asks his name—none appeals for an introduction. His Christian name disappeared long ago, and he'd better get back to the hat that gave him fame.

A United States warship coming into the bay would be justified in sending a patrol ashore and going through the second-hand book stores to reclaim Uncle Sam's stolen property. The shelves of those book stalls are lined with volumes from the libraries of the warships.

Probably this is a legacy from the visit of the big fleet a year ago. From some of the books it would look very much as if the pawing had been done by the officers instead of the jacksies; and there are enough of the volumes in sight to warrant quite an inquiry.

But why are the dealers permitted to hold and display these books, many of which are scientifically valuable and decidedly expensive. They represent stolen property. They are marked as plainly as books can be—right on their backs—with the marks of the navy. That is notice to every dealer that the books have been stolen, and the receiver of stolen goods is called a "fence" and treated as such in the law. But there is a fine library of these stolen books right in plain sight in San Francisco and no action is taken.

If you are too fond of yourself and are given to throwing out your chest and posing don't go swelling around our big San Francisco hotels or you are likely to come to grief. The wags have adopted a new way of calling down a poscur when he appears in the lobbies.

Everyone knows the way the bell hops have of going through the lobbies, waiting rooms and corridors to call the name or room of a guest when he is wanted at the telephone or the office or has a telegram sent him. Well, this has given the idlers their notion of calling down the o'er proud. Once they see a chap swelling himself they find his name and then slip a grinning bell boy a quarter to go singing aloud:

"Mr. Jones! Mr. Jones! Mr. Jones!"

The poscur announces himself. He is told that a man wants to see him in the bar or at the office, or that he is wanted by the telephone or telegraph girl. He goes in quest. He finds no one. Then there is a low ha-la as he comes back. The trick is called "paging"—sending a page for a fat wit.

There never was anything more cruel than the way W. Northrop Cowles has been treated in this Talbot J. Taylor divorce business. Old Oaklanders will remember Mrs. Taylor when she lived on Telegraph avenue, opposite McClure's Military Academy, the daughter of Jim Keene, who was just reaching notice as a plunger. In her divorce suit she named Marie Zane Cowles, and declared that Cowles was that most despicable of creatures, a complainant husband.

Nothing could be further from the fact. Marie Zane, niece of Mrs. Loughborough, was a San Francisco beauty with the entree and a tendency to be bright and flirt a bit. She went to New York and occupied apartments as a bachelor maid. There, as here, Cowles paid her attentions. He was a cultured Californian, once host of the Arlington at Santa Barbara, and had made a fortune in asphalt with Will Crocker, Billy Burton, Harry Gillig and other well-known club men.

In New York two old aunts of Marie Zane thought Cowles was too attentive. They laid a plot and a trap. Cowles fell into it. Out of a high sense of chivalry he acceded to the demands of the aunts and married Miss Zane. He never lived with her and let her get her divorce as soon as she wanted it.

That's all there was to warrant the fearful accusation against a man of the very finest delicacy and refinement, and it is small wonder that Cowles never has come back to California since the news of his wedding escapade was spread and distorted. Now it seems sure his old chums of the Bohemian Club never will see him here again.

Young Oliver, son of Charles Oliver, the chief of the Burns bum bailiff corps, is said to be taking a sea voyage round the Horn. He was shipped off after the exposure of his attempt to tamper with a passed juror in the Ruef case. His long sea voyage at this particular time is the subject of much subdued gossip around the courts and in police circles.

Despite the reiterated injunction of the court young Oliver followed a passed juror to his home and endeavored to get him to discuss the graft prosecution and the Ruef case. The matter was reported to the court and an investigation disclosed Oliver as the guilty party. On the stand he stoutly denied that either Burns or his father instructed him to tamper with the juror. The denial provoked many nods and winks in the courtroom.

Heney apologized for him, however, and Judge Lawlor joined in the opinion that the Burns agent innocently committed his indiscretion. As a guarantee of good faith, and as a formal reproof, he sentenced Oliver to serve two days in the county jail. Had Oliver escaped detection his offense would have been charged up to the defense.

Judge Lawlor dealt with a saloon keeper who asked a passed juror drinking at his bar if he was going to hang Calhoun in a different spirit. He gave him the limit—five days in jail—although the publican made no effort to continue the conversation after he was informed that his customer was a passed juror.

It is believed that young Oliver could make some queer revelations if he could be induced to tell the truth and relate all he knows. But his father's job depended upon his taking all the blame on his own shoulders, and now he is far away on the bounding billows out of the reach of court process and beyond temptation to talk too much.

Likewise J. W. Macy has disappeared. Macy was the Burns agent who hired one Wilhelm, a disolute character in Emeryville, to make some bombs a short time prior to the first Gallagher explosion. Although in the employ of Burns he represented himself as an emissary of the United Railroads, and went with Wilhelm to the powder works at Pingle and purchased ten pounds of dynamite.

Macy was in the employ of the United Railroads during the car strike, and entered the service of Burns after his dismissal by the company. It was then that he hunted up Wilhelm, who was reputed to be an expert with explosives, and told him that the United Railroads would pay him $1000 for three dynamite bombs. After purchasing the dynamite to be used in making the bombs, Macy and another individual took Wilhelm back in the hills to test his workmanship as a bomb maker. The experiment was a decided success, the bombs doing great execution. In the name of the United Railroads Macy barained for three more of the same sort, agreeing that the company would pay $1000 for them.

About that time the Bulletin spun a blood-curdling story to the effect that the higher-ups had plotted to blow up Heney and Sprickels and Judges Lawlor and Dunne. Wilhelm was to deliver the bombs at the office of the United Railroads, in San Francisco, on a certain day. Macy met him at the ferry depot at the appointed time but conveniently slipped away while two regular police detectives detailed at the special request of District Attorney Langdon arrested Wilhelm on some trivial charge and carted him off to police headquarters, where a search revealed the bombs.

But it appears that Wilhelm was no fool, however willing he might be to turn an honest penny by queer expedients. The bombs in his possession were turned over to William J. Burns, who was doubtless surprised and shocked at the evidence they furnished of the turpitude of the United Railroads people. But the horrible dynamite plot was turned into a roaring farce by the discovery that the bombs were loaded with nothing more explosive than soap. The great sensation fizzled at once. After being kept in detainee for several days Wilhelm was quietly released.

After the explosion at Gallagher's house he was again arrested at the instance of Burns, but the publication of an affidavit he had made after his release by the San Francisco police caused him to be again set at liberty. He and his fake bombs could not be utilized against the higher-ups. Macy, however, made another trip to the powder works and tried to get the original order for the ten pounds of dynamite he purchased for Wilhelm.

Now Wilhelm is gone, no one seems to know where. Macy has disappeared, and so has the person who witnessed the bomb test in the hills.

Big Jim Gallagher has been keeping out of the public eye lately. For some time he has kept off the streets, and appears to be leading the quiet life in some retreat far from the wedding crowd. This has excited comment, for Gallagher is not a modest person, and appears to have taken honor rather than shame to himself from the notoriety he has achieved.

His subsidence since the trial of his old companion in arms Mike Coffey, has provoked curiosity. Why he should seek retirement at this time is not explained. He is neither Lushful nor ashamed, and he was never before known to refrain from putting himself in evidence in the thronging thoroughfares. Has he sought cover under orders from the graft prosecution? Burns doubtless knows of his whereabouts and is probably in close touch with him. No fears for his safety are apparently entertained by Burns, else the Bulletin would be exhibiting signs of frantic terror.

Over the protest of H. D. McCoy, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., over the protests of hundreds of representative business men of this city, the Police Commissioners have granted a permit to Eddie Hanlon, a former pugilist, to open the resort known as "Frat and Beckers" at the southeast corner of Mason and O'Tarrell streets.

This action of the commission, the members of which were appointed by Mayor Taylor, who himself was endorsed by the Good Government League for the position he is now holding, is said to be a frame up on the part of the secretary to the Mayor, Frank McKannay, to secure the votes of the tough element which though not formally organized since the ousting of Jerry Dinan as Chief of Police, is still strong in this city.

Eddie Hanlon is known to be broke and is the consort of Mamie Woods, a notorious woman of the underworld, with whom Hanlon keeps almost constant company. The Woods woman holds forth above the salon of the notorious Billy Lyons, "Buckets of Blood" Lyons, whose dive adjoins the present Hall of Justice at 64 Eddy street. Lyons' place is notoriously known as the rendezvous for the night hawks and black birds of the tenderloin. Hence it follows Mamie Woods and Lyons join forces to back Hanlon in his enterprise and Hanlon, succeeding where many others have failed, through his pull with McKannay, who controls the police commission, obtains from the latter the permit to open the tenderloin resort. In return for the favor, it is rumored, Hanlon promises McKannay the support of the followers of Lyons' dive for civic righteousness in the coming municipal campaign.

The Independence Party is now a real political party. It is split into factions. It went asunder on the question of the recall of Mayor Taylor and the Board of Supervisors. Daniel O'Connell, chairman of the County Committee, led the insurgents, and Hugh McSaacs, of the executive committee, captained the old guard or Hearst forces who were opposed to the recall. But O'Connell carried the day, or the night, by a vote in the County Committee of 11 to 4.

Possibly the announcement by O'Connell that he would finance the recall contributed more than any other cause to his success.

"I don't care whether it will cost $600 or $6000," declared the man who has a picture of the illustrious Irish liberator of the same name hanging in his office. "I will pay for it and I have the cash personally to do it."

Now none of O'Connell's political associates had ever suspected, much less accused, him of such affluence, but his eloquent financial announcement attracted victory to his banner and the McSaacs opposition went down to defeat.

As O'Connell has associated with him in his recall mission some of the political employees of the Spring Valley Water Company, it is thought that cooperation is the financial angel. Mayor Taylor and Spring Valley have held most intimate relations.

The political associates of Taylor, and particularly those of the Administration Party, have been in a quandary whether they should bring Taylor out for renomination at the direct primary or wait until the November election and put him on the general ticket by petition, as provided in the Political Code.

But while the Taylorites were procrastinating, the friends of William Crocker, the millman, who apparently is the leading candidate of the regular Republicans, and also has a large following from what was once known as the Lincoln-Roosevelt League, were very active. They were attracting to Crocker collective and individual interests that were with Taylor in the last campaign. The fight of Crocker was crystallizing so rapidly that the Taylor men saw that they must be up and doing or the administration party would be left with none but the office holders for members, and outside interests it had hoped to attract to the Mayor, would have been absorbed by Crocker.

Something had to be done and O'Connell and his Spring Valley associates began to trumpet a recall. It was hoped, in this way, to arouse Taylor's old supporters and develop action in his cause for renomination. An appeal was made to the regular Republican organization for assistance and it was promptly refused, not that the party leaders favored Taylor, but that they thought his own administration was surely and effectually recalling him and that there was no necessity for any outside assistance. In their view the only effect a recall by specially provided process of law would be to the advantage of Taylor, and they were not inclined to contribute to that.

That the retail business houses which have, and are about to move from Van Ness avenue, Fillmore street and other Western Addition points to the old down-town section of San Francisco will have to pay the piper, who in their case is the landlord, is apparent from the following statement of the rents paid, by a few of the prominent firms and corporations. Roos Bros. pay an average of $6,566 a month, they having a graded lease running for fifteen years. The White House will pay about $8,000 a month under a lease running for twenty years. The City of Paris will pay a rental of $6,000 a month. It has a ten year's lease. Davis, Schonwasser & Co. have a twenty years lease under which they pay $3,500 a month. D. N. and F. Walter will pay $3,200 a month. They have a twenty-years lease. Houses in the smaller lines of business pay correspondingly high rents. Colman, the hat maker, pays $1,000 a month for a store in the Phelan building.

Carroll, the latter, pays $1,000 a month for a store in the Mutual Bank building. A firm that dealt in hats and haberdashery paid $500 a month for a small store with two narrow little show windows on Market street, near the Crocker Bank. It has closed.

It is told among business men that at least three of the concerns occupying stores in the Phelan building have either made assignments or effected other arrangements with their creditors. Similar distressed conditions, resulting from the exaction of high rents, are reported to obtain in other parts of the down-town business quarter. For a box, without rear exit, and much resembling a hole in the wall, situated on Montgomery street, near Sutter, $250 a month is charged.

Office rents have also been very high, $50 to $75 a month being charged for desirable outside rooms. There has been a decline in these charges recently, by reason of the many office buildings being only partly rented and the resultant competition. The New York system of rebates is being introduced here as an inducement to tenants. Under this, while the rental rate is a stated figure, it is only collected for ten, nine or whatever portion of the twelve months of the year that is agreed on between landlord and tenant.

Then the O'Connell-Spring Valley contingent appealed to the Labor Council and Building Trades Council for assistance. The labor leaders were inclined to give their moral support to the movement against Mayor Taylor and his Supervisors, but they positively declined to take the initiative.

The next move of O'Connell and his associates was to capture the County Committee of the Independence Party, after accomplishing which they returned to the attack on the Labor Councils.

It will require about 17,000 signatures for a recall election in San Francisco. While there are several times 17,000 citizens who are disgusted with the Taylor administration it is not probable that the necessary number of signatures, to boom the administration the people are desirous of getting rid of, can be obtained even by the financial aid of the "$6000 cash" of O'Connell & Co.

Of the recent amicable settlements of threatened contests of the will of the late "Lucky" Baldwin by his widow, Mrs. E. Baldwin, and Mrs. Selby of Oakland, who claimed to be the natural daughter of the deceased millionaire, it is said the fact that the estate is heavily incumbered contributed largely to the compromises. While the estate has a very large prospective value it is alleged to have a present marketable value of about $2,000,000. Upon this, it is reported, there are liens and other incumbrances aggregating $2,500,000. The contesting claimants thought it the wiser course to accept a settlement, which is said to have been largely based upon the prospective rather than the immediate value of the properties, instead of forcing a liquidation at this time, out of which there was a prospect of their receiving nothing.

It is told that the litigious heirs, who accepted the terms of compromise, were thrown into a state of agitation by the later testimony of H. A. Unruh, Baldwin's confidential agent and now the executor of his will, that the estate is worth between $20,000,000 and $24,000,000. It is rumored in legal circles that the would-be contestants are now threatening to hold Unruh responsible for not testifying to this large value of the estate earlier in the contention.

It is told of "Lucky" Baldwin that he never paid a bill until he was forced to do so. He was persistently and continuously scrapping in the courts over claims against him, about the merit of which there could be no doubt. In relation to one of these suits, in which a small amount was involved, an acquaintance of the old horseman asked, "Why do you not pay that bill instead of going through the trouble and expense of litigating it?"

"How am I know that I owe the bill until the court so decides?" was the reply of the man who was forever fighting to retain the dollars that he had so easily made in mining stocks.

There is talk among the lawyers that when General Jim Smith, the Civil Governor of the Philippines, returns to California he will form a law partnership with Superior Judge Murasky, who is said to be contemplating retiring from the bench and resuming the practice of the law.

There are friends of both Judge Murasky and General Smith who are of the opinion that this report has no other foundation than the fact that they were partners before Murasky went on the bench. General Smith's friends are confident that his return to California is due to the fact that he is to be given a Federal judicial appointment. They intimate that Smith could have had a judgeship in one of the other eight Federal judicial districts, but that his wish is to remain in this, the Ninth Judicial District, which embraces what might be termed the Pacific Coast states and territories.

General Smith will undoubtedly be received and extensively entertained by his many friends in this city. Arrangements had been made to give him a banquet on the occasion of his last visit, but the earthquake and fire intervened, Smith reaching this port two days after that catastrophe. The General went right through to Washington, D. C.

A disturbing incident in labor circles during the week just closed was the announcement that men employed in the wrecking of the City Hall are being paid 50 cents, and even less a day, for their work. These men, according to published report, are largely employed in cleaning brick. The maximum they may earn at this labor is 75 cents a day, as shown by their affidavits. One lacking in skill is but 50 cents, and there are days when his compensation does not exceed 25 cents.

These starvation wages are due, in a measure, to the conditions under which the men work. The contractors, taking advantage of the distress of thousands of unemployed, have fixed a very low rate per thousand for cleaning the brick and then require the men to dig them out of the walls and wheel them to the point of cleaning.

Some of the men when asked how they managed to live on these pittance explained that they never eat but two very cheap meals a day and sleep in bunks at night, for which privilege they pay 10 cents. As for clothing many of them are obliged to use some ingenuity to cover their nakedness in spots.

In order to get even these pitiful wages the men are obliged to work from 7 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. When some of the unfortunates are inclined to rebel at their hard lot they are checked by the almost daily sight of large numbers of Hindus who are being taken in wagons from steamers and other craft to outlying camps. It is said that this cheap Hindu labor is soon to be introduced in large numbers to compete with free white labor.

There has been quite a scramble among lawyers to secure the appointment of Attorney to the State Lunacy Commission, made vacant by the selection of Senator John W. Stetson for City Attorney of Oakland. Jack Williams, Milton Schmidt, Hamill, Bauer and Nathan Coghlan, who rank as prima donnas in local politics, are among those ambitious to secure the appointment and its accompanying salary of $2,400 a year. Heretofore it has been the practice to give this place to the Attorney-General, but as U. S. Webb, the incumbent of that office, has declared himself in opposition to the Republican organization it is doubtful if that custom will be followed on this occasion. General Webb's choice is said to be W. H. Cobb, a deputy in his office, but the outlook is that Cobb will receive the vote of no member of the Board of Trustees other than that of Webb. Assemblyman R. L. Beardslee, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee at the recent session of the Legislature, is said to have the active support of Secretary of State Curry, who is a member of the Lunacy Commission. Oliver Dibble, son of Judge H. C. Dibble, was supposed to be in line for this appointment, and he may be yet, although the weight of political opinion, whatever that may be worth, runs to Beardslee. Assemblyman Nathan Coghlan is reported to be in a receptive humor, as are others.

The Lincoln-Roosevelt League seems to have gone to smash. In corroboration of this calamity Percy Newberry has announced his retirement from politics and that he will devote his talents to the mush business in the future. The Leaguers held one of their celebrated resurrection luncheons at the Fairmont last Wednesday. While the number of invitations sent out was large, the attendance was sixteen. James Rolph Jr. presided. Among the others present were Rolla V. Watt and Byron Maury.

Edwin McMurray, boss of all reform movements in the Thirty-ninth Assembly district, wanted to know by whose authority the meeting had been called. While he was given no direct response, it is understood that the inspiration originated with Rolla V. Watt. McMurray next nominated Rolph for Mayor. The Mission linker and improvement club promoter announced that for business and private reasons he couldn't be a candidate and that he was for William Crocker, the planing mill man. This seems to leave the Leaguers without a candidate for Mayor, unless Watt should be induced to make the sacrifice, and the sixteen adjourned until some other inspired member shall call them together again.

BAILEY PROMISES TAFT A 'PICNIC'

"No Man Ever Had Less Desirable Preparation For Presidency," Says Senator

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Asserting that he had heard it reported that President Taft would veto the pending census bill if it did not provide for placing the appointment of consular employees under the civil service commission, Senator Bailey, in a speech on the bill, declared that if the President had "thus early in his administration undertaken to coerce congress he would find that the experience of the last seven years was a holiday compared with what the next four years would be."

Senator Lodge made a spirited reply to the Texas Senator. Among other things Mr. Bailey said that no man ever had a less desirable preparation for the Presidency than the present occupant of the office. "He went from the bench," declared Bailey, "where the tendency is toward a certain kind of tyranny. There is scarcely a federal judge in the United States of twenty years' service who has not become arbitrary and pitiless and sometimes tyrannical. I do not mean that this experience would corrupt him in the sense of making him venal, but it tends to corrupt him in the sense that it teaches him to oppose his will against all obstacles."

STATE OFFICIALS ARE PLACED UNDER ARREST

CHICAGO, April 10.—A special to the Record-Herald from Danville, Ill., says: "John O. Thibault, John W. Suraw and Joseph O. Boswell, highway commissioners, have been arrested on a bench warrant charging them with malfeasance and nonfeasance in office."

Each of the accused gave bonds. The indictments against the commissioners alleging that they had misappropriated $25,000 of township funds by padding payrolls, were returned two months ago by the grand jury, but the serving of the warrants was postponed.

TO COMMENCE WORK ON LONG DISTANCE SURVEY

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 10.—Henry W. Minnervod of the Coast and Geodetic Survey arrived from Washington yesterday to arrange for the survey of a line from Goff, Cal., to El Reno, Okla., a distance of about 1,000 miles, to establish precise levels. The line will follow the Santa Fe Railroad through California, Arizona and New Mexico. Mr. Minnervod expects to have his party of seven men in the field by April 15. With favorable conditions they hope to reach Albuquerque, N. M., by Thanksgiving Day.

DRY MARTINIS FAIL TO ATTRACT TRADE

CHICAGO, April 10.—Dry Martini cocktails, Turkish cigarettes and Benedictine do not appear to be a large part of the traveling public when they are served with meals on dining cars. As a result the table d'hôte war which has raged for some time among the railroads between Chicago and the twin cities, and between Chicago and Kansas City, has come to an end. The war started as a measure of competition to attract business, but, according to the general passenger agents, it was a dismal failure. Temperance advocates complained that the railroads were tempting people to drink.

Delegates will assemble here on May 19 and will sail for Bermuda the next day on the steamer Bermudian. A plan for a benevolent organization for newspaper men will be one of the matters discussed at the convention.

NEW RULE FOR SMOKERS IN GERMANY

Kaiser's Officers Must Not Use Tobacco in the Ball Rooms

NEVER SMOKE BEFORE EVENING GOWNED WOMEN

Lions Jump Out of a Cage and Frighten the Audience

(BY MALCOLM CLARKE)

BERLIN, April 10.—German ladies express warm appreciation of the courteous action of the Kaiser who has issued a decree to prevent the discomfort caused to them by the indiscreet smoking of German officers.

Through the medium of an imperial cabinet order promulgated throughout the army and navy, his majesty commands the officers of his forces to abstain from the practice of smoking cigars and cigarettes in ball rooms or elsewhere in the presence of ladies in evening dress. Smoking is henceforth to be confined strictly to those apartments set aside for it.

The decree applies wherever officers find themselves in the society of ladies, whether at court or in hotels, restaurants, clubs or private homes. Smoking, too, in accordance with the old time regulation is prohibited in the corridors and vestibules of the imperial castle.

Stupid Police

The Berlin police have many splendid qualities, but their action is not one of them. They demonstrated the fact in a ludicrous manner on Monday evening when they refused to allow Prof. Hans Delbrück, one of the greatest of German publicists and editor of the well-known review, "Preussische Jahrbücher," to address a meeting on finance reform because the police department had not had the legal notice of the gathering. The argument was of no avail that the meeting was an overflow gathering from a neighboring hall, where several thousand more people than it could hold had assembled to hear Adolf Wagner on the same topic.

Prof. Delbrück contrived to persuade one constable that the subject matter of his address was not inflammatory and he was permitted to proceed. He had not got far into his discourse however before a trio of policemen helmeted and sabred, tramped down the aisle and called upon the speaker to desist from further talk.

A number of the audience then proposed that Prof. Delbrück eliminate anything remotely savouring of politics and address the crowd on academic subjects such as he is in the habit of discussing in his university classes. This appeased the zealous guardians of the peace, and the professor launched into a learned review of taxation in the mediaeval era.

When however he had reached the twentieth century and began talking about the death duties now in vogue, the policemen mobilized for another attack on the rostrum and declared the meeting adjourned. They had a sinister look about them and several women fainted having been carried out of the theater.

Lions Break Out

There was a scene of great excitement at the Dresden circus last night. The performing lions had just returned to their cage, one of the doors having been carelessly left open.

A large lion rushed out and sprang over the arena into the audience. Apparently startled at his own audacity, he took a backward leap, the boxes, which was happily empty.

After a few moments he rapidly returned to his cage whilst the audience remained paralyzed with fright. The escaped and several women fainted having been carried out of the theater.

Find Dog by Phone

The police of this city have accomplished the curious feat of establishing the ownership of a lost dog by means of the telephone.

Conductor of a suburban train informed the police a few days ago that his pet terrier Amel had been stolen. Yesterday the police telephoned to find that a dog answering Amel's description had been found in the possession of a suspicious looking man, who claimed that he had owned the animal for a long time.

The telephone records were then placed to the dogs and Amel was immediately returned to talk to the animal in a familiar language. The dog immediately became tame and obedient and barked with joy. The pseudo owner was so alarmed by this display of the animal's sagacity that he immediately confessed that he had stolen the dog.

Milliners' Windows

Tens of thousands of spring hats of the "mushroom" type have suddenly become a drug on the market in Berlin on account of bitter polemics which have broken out in the fashionable world.

Just as the milliners' windows were filled with fascinating samples labeled persuasively "latest Paris style," the newspapers published a sensational acknowledgment of authority on feminine fashions and three prominent ladies of the theatrical world undertook a vigorous campaign against the "pet hat," as the goddess "beauty" is called in Germany. The princesses buried a thunderbolt by declaring that she had just returned from Paris "where nothing is new."

Fraulein Weust the charming comedienne of the Lessing Theater, has asserted her refusal to wear "these monotonous hats which become women who want to be like the faces." Fraulein Masary of the Metropolitan Theater called the new hats "waste paper baskets turned upside down."

Fraulein Witt of the Residenz Theater bemoans the hideousness of the "pet hat." Admitting at the same time that she had just become six or seven in order not to look singular when she appears at Monte Carlo next week.

The milliners are quite stricken by these denunciations of their spring goods. Hundreds of ladies who were at the very beginning of purchasing "pet hats" are now waiting to see what their friends will do. In the meantime trade is at a standstill.

ITALY AND THE EMIGRANT LAW

Passes a New Law Which Will Give Her Transportation Control

ROME, April 10.—An important new law relating to Italian immigration has just been signed by royal decree. It will strike a heavy blow at the shipping companies not flying the Italian flag as practically it will give Italy a monopoly of the transportation of emigrants to the United States and elsewhere.

The main points of the law are that no new licenses for carrying emigrants shall be issued to any ship over three years old. The emigrant must be twin screws and over 500 tons. Steamers now licensed will lose their licenses upon becoming twenty years old from the date of launching. The government may in exceptional cases issue a provisional permit for ships exceeding eighteen knots of speed.

If this law had come into effect six days ago the White Star line could not have placed its liner in the Italian emigration trade to which the Republic which was sunk by the flood.

from the latter's desire that the title role should be created by his wife, Mme. Georgette Leblanc. Maeterlinck's wish was not gratified.

Gossip Because of the Dowager Empress' Caustic Comments

LONDON, April 10.—It is said in court circles that the Czarina of Russia whose nerves are shattered and whose mental condition is such that she has been ordered to take a prolonged rest in the interior of the Crimea.

The Czarina will be accompanied by her children whom she never leaves out of her sight and as she is unable to travel on land it is considered likely that she will not disembark until the end of the month.

Reports from the Isle of Wight state that the Russian Imperial yacht will be named after the late Czar and that Prince Nicholas will be its governor of the island will allow it to induce the Czarina to stay a few days with her children. After a visit to the Isle of Wight the Czarina will proceed to the Mediterranean stopping a day or two at Gibraltar and Malta.

'JOY RIDING' IS UNDER THE BAN

London Police Insist on Device to Show Over-Speeding

LONDON, April 10.—London "Joy riding" and automobile speeding seem to be a thing of the past. The police are now working the working machine and the police commissioner thinks he has found a plan that will stop speeding.

The commissioner has already notified the omnibus and taxicab companies that they must provide an automatic device which will give audible warning the moment the speed limit is exceeded and hereafter no license will be issued to any public automobile not having an automatic device that makes an audible signal the moment the speed limit is exceeded.

The police do not suggest any particular device but they have proposed a device which consists of a horn or bell which will sound when the speed limit is exceeded.

The matter has been discussed in parliament and the police are now working the working machine and the police commissioner thinks he has found a plan that will stop speeding.

Evidence of Oakland's Growth.

It is less than seven months since the Oakland Bank of Savings was actually completed and all evidence of construction removed. But the den and for rooms in it is so great and so persistent that the directors have decided to add at least two more stories to it. The massive steel frame of the structure is strong enough to carry many more than the six stories it is now carrying, and what is more to the point as illustrating Oakland's rapid growth is that tenants for the new floors are already in sight. There is what is termed a "waiting list" of applicants of offices long enough to more than fill all of one story and there is an eager applicant for the whole of the other floor. As to the advisability of renting a whole floor to the latter is being thoughtfully held in abeyance by the bank directors.

The record is a marvelous one. We doubt whether another city on the continent, certainly none on the Pacific Coast, can point to its duplicate. Usually the demand for an expansion of such a building in the most prosperous of cities is a matter of as many years after its completion as the months recorded in the history of this particular structure. Indeed the history of the Oakland Bank of Savings building has been a record-breaker from the day the plans of the bank directors were announced. Enough tenants to fill it had contracted for offices a year before it was completed and there was a large "waiting list" on record besides.

The new addition will cost $100,000 or more. But the success of the investment is amply assured. The demand for office room in the building is conclusive evidence that the Twelfth and Broadway crossing is now the actual center of Oakland's business activity, and the necessity which forces the bank directors to respond to it so shortly after its completion points plainly to the opportunity which is staring the owners of the buildings on the other three corners in the face, and it will probably induce them to substitute modern structures there for the out-of-date buildings now occupying the ground for the sake of drawing a revenue more nearly approximating a fair interest on the present and prospective value of the land than they are now getting.

High Auto Speeding Must Be Curbed.

The killing of W. D. Hardison of Los Angeles, former proprietor of the Herald of that city, and a large operator in its oil-fields, in a collision between his fast-speeding automobile and a Southern Pacific engine, at a railroad crossing twenty miles west of the Southern California metropolis, brings up again the standing complaint against the abuse of this useful road machine. No one seems to be blameable for the unfortunate and untimely death of Mr. Hardison except himself, so far as the telegraphic report of the accident indicates. He was driving his auto at a rapid rate of speed when approaching a railroad crossing. That means, as everybody knows, he was taking every kind of a chance, and made an effort probably to beat the engine that he may have seen coming, and fell a victim to his own recklessness and bad judgment. At all events when he saw this peril it was too late to avoid disaster and he paid the penalty by sacrificing his life.

The unfortunate incident emphasizes once more the tremendous abuse to which these useful horseless road vehicles are being subjected through the senseless craze for high speeding. In a very broad sense manufacturers have fostered the craze and are thus indirectly responsible for the multiplicity of accidents and fatalities growing out of high speeding. They have vied with one another in the production of machines that can attain the highest speed. With nothing to guide them on the public highways except the judgment and nerve of the chauffeur these machines are driven at a higher rate of speed than express trains on guarded steel tracks holding them to their course. Every municipal authority in the country has endeavored to put a curb on the mania for high speeding, but the mad desire for flying over the course throws prudence to the winds and the risk is taken of violating every law enacted for the safety of those employing automobiles as well as that of the general public using the same highways.

Manufacturers of automobiles should not lose any time in the inauguration of a campaign of education for the rational speed of the machines they make or they will put themselves in the position of inviting the killing of the goose that lays the golden egg for them.

Fuel Oil Test on American Warship.

Recently the monitor Cheyenne, formerly known as the Wyoming, was equipped with fuel oil furnaces and returned the other day to San Pedro after a six-hundred-mile test cruise of the new steam-producing appliances and fuel. The results have not yet been made known, but it is intimated that they were unsatisfactory.

The report is astonishing, if true, for it is impossible to comprehend on any rational theory why fuel oil should be a failure on an American naval vessel when it has proved for nearly a decade to be a pronounced success and a source of great economy on every merchant vessel employing it for steam-making, and that the naval vessels and merchant steamships sailing under other flags have had a like experience with it.

If fuel oil has not proved a success on the Cheyenne there must be something radically wrong with the installation of the furnaces with which it is equipped and not with the character of the fuel, and if such a defect exists the ignorance of the naval bureau of equipment is directly responsible for it. It is a matter of record that the naval bureaucrats have never taken kindly to the use of fuel oil on our warships. They have been strongly prejudiced against it, for what reason has never been fully explained. But the fact remains that they refused to study the subject of its use as a substitute for coal for many years after American merchantmen and many warships of France, Russia, Great Britain, and Germany had adopted it and demonstrated its economy and superiority as a steam-producing agent, and when they finally were forced by public opinion to take up the subject they did so reluctantly. Can it be that they have allowed their prejudices to so affect the equipment of the monitor Cheyenne as to assure its inefficiency? If so, what is the underlying motive?

The enforcement of correct habits and strict line of personal conduct by members of the police department is an essential to maintain discipline. Any officer who visits a saloon to drink during the time he is on duty or who gives way to his appetite for strong liquor to such an extent as to become intoxicated when off duty is certainly unworthy to wear a star. When patrolling his beat, it is his duty to arrest any man under the influence of liquor found within his bailiwick. He has, therefore, no right when off duty to violate himself a rule of conduct which the city employs him to enforce. The paid conservators of the peace should be required to be immaculate in their conduct on or off duty and the Chief of Police and the Board of Commissioners are to be commended for adopting and putting into effect the most drastic disciplinary measures to make every member of the department toe the mark.

Horrorful Condition at Messina.

It is several months since the great seismic disturbance in Sicily and the Southern Italian province of Calabria destroyed Messina, Reggio and other cities bordering on the Strait of Messina, but time has not eradicated its horrors.

The recent visit of Roosevelt to the stricken city of Messina has revived the world's interest in the great calamity, for it appears that the Italian government has been scrupulously censoring all news dispatched abroad from the country to conceal the condition of affairs and minimize the shocking results of the calamity.

Notwithstanding the vigorous efforts which have been made to recover the bodies of the victims of the earthquake from the ruins of the devastated city of Messina, Roosevelt gives out the sad intelligence in a brief statement made at Port Said that there are still 40,000 unrecovered bodies lying in the debris, and from Rome comes the additional horrifying report that cholera has broken out in the stricken port which before the calamity was the pride and the glory of the beautiful island of Sicily and one of the show places of the Mediterranean Sea. If the report sent out from Rome regarding the manner in which the funds the world contributed for the relief of the distressed sufferers has been disbursed is true, namely, that it has been employed and disbursed for the accomplishment of political ends, it will rebound to the everlasting discredit of the Italian government, for it is alleged that "no relief money was given to anyone in Messina unless he promised first to vote to re-elect Premier Giolitti at the recent elections." If that statement is true, it is an exhibition of heartlessness and the misuse of the world's charity and expression of sympathy which has not been witnessed anywhere else in modern times.

To the credit of the American people its representatives in the diplomatic and naval service in Sicilian waters have acquitted themselves in such a way as to command the admiration and commendation of the ex-President and it is to be hoped that the reported inhumanity of the Italian premier in the matter of the disbursement of the relief funds is grossly overdrawn.

Lemon growing has become a great feature in the citrus industry in this State and it is gratifying news to the growers to learn that through Senator Flint's efforts they will be better protected in the new tariff bill than they have been under the Dingley act. California is capable of supplying the whole country with the fruit from its groves.

ANOTHER MILE-POST.

And as We Pass It We Nod to Our Enemies, and Graciously Salute Our Friends.

(Charles M. Shortridge, in San Jose Times.)

The Times starts on its SIXTH VOLUME today:

We feel like moving three cheers for the friends who have stood with The Times; and as to those who have opposed it—well, they never did amount to much in any walk of life! They are accidents, incompetents, selfish men of small mental horizon, and full of the meanest prejudices!

But we can spare but a word for those who have opposed The Times; they are of little or no consequence; they are the cranks and the natural enemies of these liberal and fair and whole-hearted principles of government—of which The Times is the advocate and defender!

One animating thought which induced us to re-enter journalism, and to give up the practice of the profession of the law, was to more successfully fight hypocrites. The Times was born to fight fraud and vote-buying and cowardly pretense; to oppose hypocrisy, and flay pretenders—and how it has made them writhe, hiss and emit their venomous poison!

If it had not been for this paper, there would have been a wall built around this beautiful city, strong and high enough to keep out all liberal-hearted and fair-minded men; the cranks and faddists would have strangled liberty by the enactment of other and more vicious regulating laws. The crank, and the fellow who wants to regulate every man's business by law are fast becoming known as the MOST OBJECTIONABLE CITIZENS; and to fight against the vicious regulating cranks, and the moral and political hypocrites is one of the high purposes of The Times.

Every man who enjoys liberty, and holds the rights of honestly acquired property as among the things worthy of protection; who is anxious to see his neighbor happy, and prosperous—and in full possession and enjoyment of personal liberty—KNOWS NOW—that these rights and blessings can not be had with ONLY ONE MORNING PAPER IN THE CITY OF SAN JOSE.

It will be seen, therefore, this paper has a heart and a purpose. It is the champion and fearless advocate of reasonable personal liberty, and broad liberality in the construction of the laws and ordinances which govern the City of San Jose, and the County of Santa Clara. It demands order, enforced by equal and just laws; but it insists that personal liberty, and the rights of property be PROTECTED and not DESTROYED by "regulating measures," which are and ever have been the means whereby the haters of personal liberty, and religious freedom, have sought to enforce their opinions, born of malice and bigotry, upon the rest of mankind!

The success of The Times against the most fiendish and terrible and relentless opposition, proves that thousands of our people SEE AND UNDERSTAND! They are resolved the cranks shall not rule; that this beautiful city shall not be known as "Crankville," and that rich rascals, and paid reformers, shall take a back seat—attend somewhat to their own business—if they have any—and permit the honest, thoughtful and reasonable, and sober-minded men and women to live AT PEACE here in the home of their fathers—where they and their children were born; here where the earnings of a life-time of honest thrift are invested—and not be forever annoyed and harassed by the narrow-minded cranks, whose highest and only conception of liberty is expressed in some "regulating law," which would compel others to live according to their narrow and bigoted views!

The Times is fortunate in being liberally supported by the best elements of this supernatural valley; they want it to be free and honest and independent; and every day treating all with fairness and impartiality; and governed by sound and sane principles—contribute to the peace and prosperity of all our people; and continue to an ounce to the whole world—here is the home of a high-minded, fearless and dauntless race of men; and the home of women of more than Spartan courage, and virtues—the truest and best representatives of this western civilization—and a citizenship which is broadly and truly AMERICAN!

Therefore, be not deceived, friends—the spirit which animates The Times has been tried and tested. The flames of evil passions have raged about it; it has suffered many temporary defeats, but has risen stronger because of them; it has high ideals which even the grinding heel of poverty cannot force it to abandon or destroy. Be assured, that spirit is free, and values liberty, as first among the priceless blessings which should be enjoyed by all mankind; that it sees and is resolved upon higher and better things; and regards no man as exempt from the principles of exact and eternal justice, as taught and revealed by the Saints and Martyrs of deathless hopes and virtues; and though hurried and dashed as spray upon the shore, it bows only to the God—whom we all adore!

RESIDENTS COMPLAIN OF GAS FROM SEWERS

Editor TRIBUNE: The Board of Public Works is still turning a deaf ear to the complaints which have been lodged against them by the people who reside in the neighborhood of Twenty-second and Grove streets on account of the sewer gas which has been issuing from a manhole there for the past month.

Many of the residents of this district have become very ill from the gases and their complaints have been of no avail.

Mrs. Mary Hansen of 573 Twenty-second street had been ill in bed for the last three weeks and it was only recently she was able to be about.

The neighbors have pleaded with the city officials to have this nuisance attended to, and they in turn assured us it would be stopped immediately.

Every time I wish to go down town I have to go by way of Telegraph avenue and am almost stifled with this vile odor, and it is high time something should be done.

MISS WORTHINGTON TO PLAY "PETER PAN"

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—The Valencia Theater Company, together with a number of child actors, brought here especially for the production, have been working steadily for the past two weeks getting ready for the presentation of "Peter Pan," Maude Adams' greatest success, which begins tomorrow afternoon. Harriet Worthington, the new leading woman, who has come here direct from New York, will make her first appearance in the part taken by Miss Adams and rehearsal indicate that she will achieve a phenomenal success.

The scenery and costumes for the production are of the most elaborate nature, and the management promises that the effects will equal those arranged for the original New York presentation.

How Many Meals
Have You Saved?

Do you show your meals do you good, as the saying goes? Have you the product of former good dinners tucked away around your waist line? Do they reproach you? Do they heavily on your physical conscience, as it were? Are you anxious to reform?

Well, then contemplate a period of penance. What do you say to a month of unmodified breakfast food diet—made thin, to be followed or accompanied by thirty days of road work or weight lifting. No!

How about a few months' course of some acid (put your teeth on edge) acid, heat-burn causing, wrinkle forming, stomach upsetting, high priced patent advertised "fat remedy," then—No!

All that remains for you to try, then, if you really wish to reform, is Marmola Prescription Tablets. These tablets possess special virtue—the most important of which is, they cause not one ripple of internal uneasiness. Neither do they leave wrinkles behind; nor is dieting and exercise required to help out. Yet, in a reasonable time they are capable of reducing, possibly, any man or woman on this green earth a pound or so daily.

How about your trying this safe and well indorsed plan if you do not care to exercise or diet? The Marmola Company of Detroit, Mich. or any drug-jet will give you, for as little as 75 cents, one large case, so well stocked that just that one case will show you the problem of reducing safely and quickly on three full meals a day has been solved.

OAKLAND BANK OF SAVINGS BUILDING ESTABLISHES NEW RECORD OF PROSPERITY

BUILDING ACTIVITY IN BERKELEY

$30,000 Electric Power and Transportation Building Started

BERKELEY, April 10. — New activity has been noticed during the past week in the amount of building which is being done in Berkeley and the applications for building permits bid fair to eclipse all previous records, not only in number but in the large amount of money represented in the applications.

New Power Station

The Pacific Gas and Electric company has taken out a permit in the building inspector's office for the erection of a new power station which the company will construct at the corner of Hearst avenue and a side street for the transforming of the high power carried into Berkeley preliminary to its distribution locally. The permit was taken out in the amount of $11,000, the estimated cost of the building alone. The structure will be one story and will be constructed entirely of concrete and steel.

Big Apartment House

The highest permit taken out during the week was that secured by F. J. Conner for the erection of a three-story apartment house on Durant avenue, east of Telegraph, which, it is estimated, will cost about $30,000.

Big Warehouse

The El Dorado Oil company of West Berkeley has commenced the construction of a huge warehouse, which will be one of the largest on the Berkeley waterfront. The building will be situated at the foot of University avenue and is to have ground dimensions of 140x70 feet.

New Buildings

Ground has been broken for the erection of a two-story building to be erected on the corner of Harper street and Ashby avenue, the cost of which will be in the neighborhood of $8000. The building will consist of three four-room flats and one of five rooms. It will be owned by Charles Sander, a resident of Oakland.

In the East Berkeley residence section the building is especially active and a great many artistic bungalows are dotting the hillside on both sides of the University grounds and in the Claremont district. Work has been commenced on the erection of two $5000 residences at Emma and Plaza drive. These artistic buildings will be the property of Mrs. Dwyer.

Building Permits

The following building permits were issued the past week:

Mrs. Emma Koon, 2-story 10-room residence, Alch, near Rose; $5000.

A. R. Knott, 1-story 4-room dwelling, Shattuck, near Belvedere; $1500.

C. E. Anderson, 1 1/2-story 6-room residence, Kain, near Camella; $1000.

T. A. Tipton, 1-story, 6-room frame building, Duhan, near Webster; $2500.

George Steiner, 1-story 6-room cottage, Bruce, near Alston way; $1500.

E. E. Simpson, 1-story 6-room cottage, Blake, near Melvin; $2400.

Mrs. Newman, 2-story 8-room flats, Bancroft, near Shattuck; $3000.

Miss M. E. Brown, 2-story 7-room residence, Woodway, near College; $3000.

S. Schriener, 1-story 6-room brick building for stores, Shattuck, near Parker; $7000.

A. G. Bremner, 2-story 6-room dwelling, Regent and Derby streets; $2400.

H. D. Dowitt, alterations on buildings, 2328 Harper street; $200.

Mrs. Harry H. Johnson, 2-story 7-room dwelling, Virginia and Le Roy streets; $3500.

TO RAISE HEIGHT OF BANK BUILDING

Oakland Savings Bank Structure to Have Two Additional Stories Erected at Once

The Oakland Bank of Savings has under consideration the proposition of erecting two additional stories to the six-story bank structure at the northeast corner of Broadway and Twelfth street, which was completed last year. Architect C. W. Dickey is at work drawing plans for the addition. A front elevation of the structure as it will appear when the two new stories are built is shown in THE TRIBUNE today. The addition is prompted by the increased demand for room in the building by would-be tenants. There is a waiting list already large enough to fill both floors as soon as they are ready for occupancy.

If the board of directors decide to go ahead with the work, as there is no very good reason to doubt, the two additional stories will be built without any interference with any of the tenants in the building. The steel frame of the latter is unusually strong and capable of carrying much more weight than the proposed addition will impose upon it, and the operating plant for elevators, electric lighting, etc., competent to accommodate several new stories is already on premises, so that the cost of caring for the eight stories will practically be no greater than it is now for the six stories.

Estimates of the cost have not been worked out definitely, but it is assumed that it will cost from $50,000 to $100,000. The illustrations simply show a section of the Twelfth street frontage of the building as they are and will be, and also a fragment of the new ornamental cornice which will ornament the top of the building on the Broadway and Twelfth street frontages. While the building, as it is, is chaste, although subdued external ornamentation, the new treatment of its architectural finish will add immensely to its beauty.

THIEF TAKES DIVINE'S BICYCLE FROM BASEMENT

Rev. E. F. Gee of St. John's rectory, Eighth and Grove streets, reported to the police this morning that his bicycle was stolen from the basement of his home last night.

T. L. Thompson, Placerville, reported that his pocket watch was picked in a crowd of men emerging from the Broadway theater last evening. His silver watch was stolen.

The Oakland Transfer Company, 227 Eighth, reports the loss of theft of a bay horse and phaeton, valued at $100.

The Sunset Lumber Company reports the finding of a gray mare, the milch horse of a farmer, held the same for a claimant, and it was sent to the pound.

NEW REALTY COMPANY FORMED IN OAKLAND

During the past week a copartnership has been entered, into between L. E. Grimm and J. L. Williams for the purpose of conducting a general real estate business.

Mrs. Grimm has been engaged in business here for the past two years, specializing in the sale of property in the vicinity of Melrose and Placerville, also in the exchanging of city and country property.

EXCHANGED FOR OAKLAND LOTS

A. J. Snyder traded this week eight choice lots in his Piedmont Tenace by the Lake tract for the Tom Grant home in Napa county, which comprises forty acres of land and one of the most attractive places in that county. The exchange was effected on a basis of $25,000 valuation.

building, Allston and Bonar; $100.

G. L. Hugheson, 1-story 4-room residence, McCue and Stewart; $1500.

G. L. Lindquist, 1-story 4-room residence, Acton and Bristol; $1400.

W. Jones, 2-story 1-room frame dwelling, Oxford and Los Angeles avenue; $3500.

El Dorado Oil company, 1-story 1-room store house, University and First; $2500.

C. Texdahl, 2-story 16-room flats, Harper and Ashby; $6900.

DR. F. R. JORDAN SELLS FOUR FLATS

A recent sale worthy of mention is that of a four-flat building at the southwest corner of Wmsworth avenue and Fairmont street, purchased by C. J. Raleigh as a permanent investment.

A. J. Snyder consummated the deal. The consideration was $11,500. Dr. F. R. Jordan was the seller.

LOCAL REALTY FIRM MOVES TO BROADWAY

The Sunset Realty company, formerly 454 Eleventh street, has taken new quarters at 1670 Broadway and under the able management of Frank M. Reed there is no doubt that the company will enjoy a prosperous increasing business.

Frank J. Woodward, the well-known financial agent, will build a $25,000 house in Berkeley, work on which has been commenced. The magnificent new home is located at the corner of Piedmont way and Bancroft way, Berkeley. The plans for the structure were prepared by Edward Blake Secy. The house will be of old English and Dutch designs, and will contain sixteen rooms. The first story will be of brick, while the balance of the house will be of cement.

In the second story will be seen old-fashioned green shutters, which will give the home an interesting appearance. There will be magnificent porches which will be one of the big features of the elegant home. The interior finish will be in mahogany, oak and birch, and throughout the house there will be hardwood floors.

Included in the structure will be a splendid billiard room and a perfectly arranged dining hall. When completed, it will be the most imposing edifice in the college town.

The property was purchased recently from Professor Bernard Moses of the State University, for $20,000. There is a large amount of ground, on one section of which will be a handsome garage to cost not less than $5000. It will, therefore, be seen that the entire investment of Mr. Woodward in this Berkeley home will represent something like $50,000.

MORE S. P. CO. IMPROVEMENTS

The Southern Pacific Company is adding another large improvement to their plant at the foot of Peralta street. It consists of a new blacksmith and machine shop to cost $12,000. The permit for the structure was issued by the Board of Public Works during the past week.

Mr. Woodward is a self-made man. He made his money here by hard work and shrewd investment. He is known as one of the best financiers on Broadway, having offices in the Union Savings bank building. He is an authority on real estate, as well as bonds and stocks, and does a great deal of outside business for prominent bankers in Oakland and San Francisco.

WORKSHOP AT THE BLIND MEN'S HOME

The new reinforced concrete workshop building for the industrial home of the adult blind on Telegraph avenue was expected to be ready for occupancy long before this. It is a two-story fire and earthquake-proof structure, built on the Mission style of architecture and with genuine red tiled roof. The walls are up and everything is under cover, but nearly all of the interior finish remains to be done. It is now represented that it will be finished by May 1st, but from all appearances it will not be occupied for many weeks after that date.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION AND CHAMBER OF COMMERCE CAMPAIGNS BOOST CITY

Mission Type Home of Mrs. Joseph Ghirardelli in Piedmont.

TWO MOVEMENTS HELP OAKLAND

Chamber of Commerce Work and Y. M. C. A. Canvass For Building Funds

In a recent interview George W. Austin dwelt on the great benefit the two movements, which have been brought conspicuously before the people of Oakland within the past two weeks, by the Chamber of Commerce and the Young Men's Christian Association, will have on the future of Oakland and on property values.

Said Mr. Austin: "The spirit of enterprise and progressiveness now animating the people of Oakland, incident to Chamber of Commerce work—or two weeks—and the ten-day campaign for the raising of a building fund for the Y. M. C. A. has become gratifyingly contagious. Everybody seems to have caught it, and the epidemic spreads."

"The realty business will be materially benefited and all property owners and business men will be advantaged. Nobody likes to live in a dead community; per contra, everybody is glad to live in a live town. A wide-awake, enterprising, public-spirited, go-ahead town. When they have the demonstration that their town is that kind, then they take pride and satisfaction in their being a citizen thereof and, in the language of the great apostle, they can say, 'I am a citizen of no mean city.'"

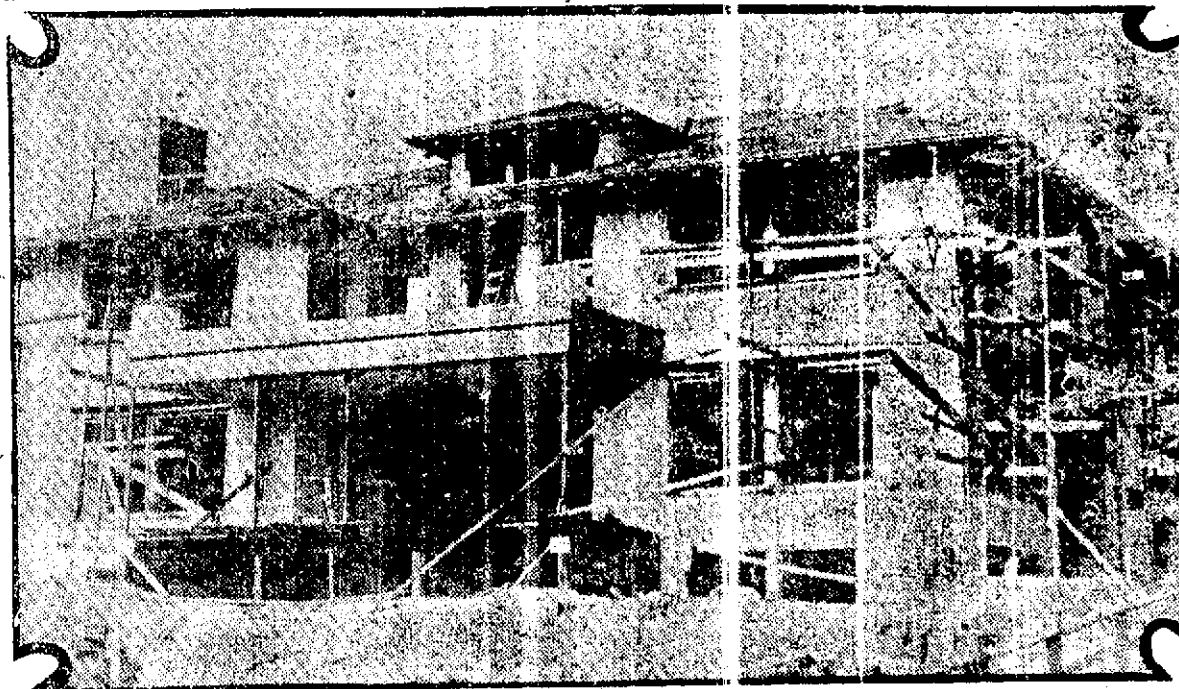

"The results attendant upon the efforts of the Progress and Prosperity Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, doubtless attest the fact that all we require in Oakland to bring out the demonstration that Oakland is no mean city, is to 'get a hustle on' in behalf of promoting public enterprise for public benefit. This is being accomplished, too, by the most gratifying work already done, and the excellent achievements accomplished in the crusade for a Y. M. C. A. building that will compare with the size and importance of Oakland as a metropolis (by having a population of a quarter million, and an immediate auxiliary contingent constituency, of not less than one hundred and fifty thousand."

"The results to date are most praiseworthy, and Oakland may justly plume herself upon the generous spirit of responsiveness manifested. But by way of comparison, and to show that there are other communities not nearly so populous, which have shown this same commendable spirit of progressiveness and which have achieved great results in the endeavor to foster and build up the material and moral welfare, it is noted that Eugene, Oregon, a town of about ten thousand population, last year raised that many dollars for public work, and this year has made it fifteen thousand. At the same time, in behalf of promoting the philanthropy of the Y. M. C. A., her people, in eight days, contributed $51,000."

"Let Oakland, then, look to her laurels in this line of public spirited, generous giving."

"The real estate business is good, all things being considered."

Costly Home for C. M. MacGregor in Piedmont Nearing Completion.

GOOD EFFECT OF PUBLIC WORKS

The administration's plans of street improvements, the construction of new public buildings, the purchase of more park lands and school sites and the utilization of the water front on a large scale for commerce are stimulating the prospects of the realty market in Oakland and its vicinity. The proposed reconstruction of the pavements of the main thoroughfares leading to the southern water front and their covering with durable materials that will resist the wear and tear of steadily increasing traffic is riveting the attention of realty men and investors in real estate in that direction.

Home-like Residence of Elgin Stoddard, 144 Bonita Avenue, Piedmont.

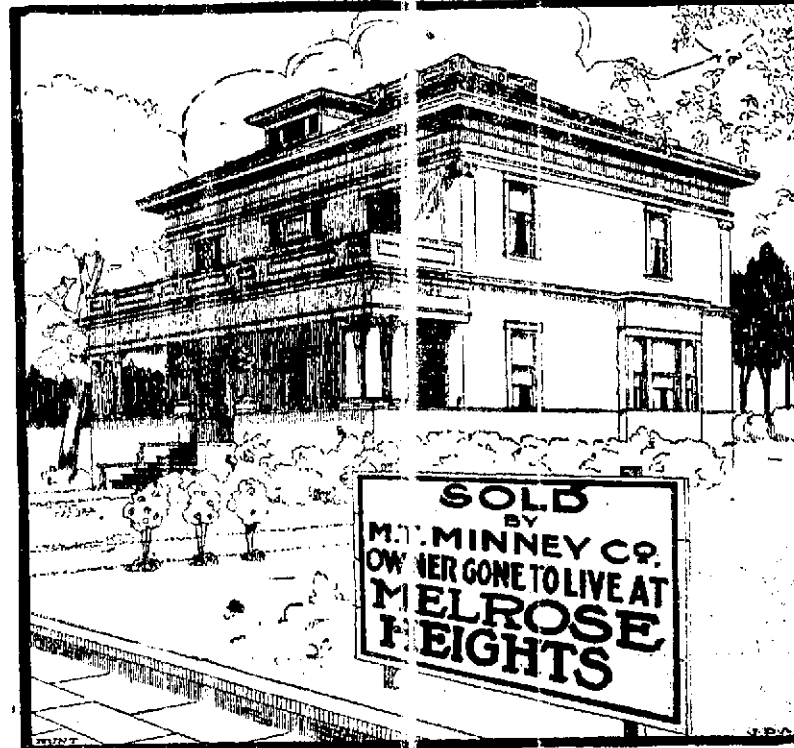

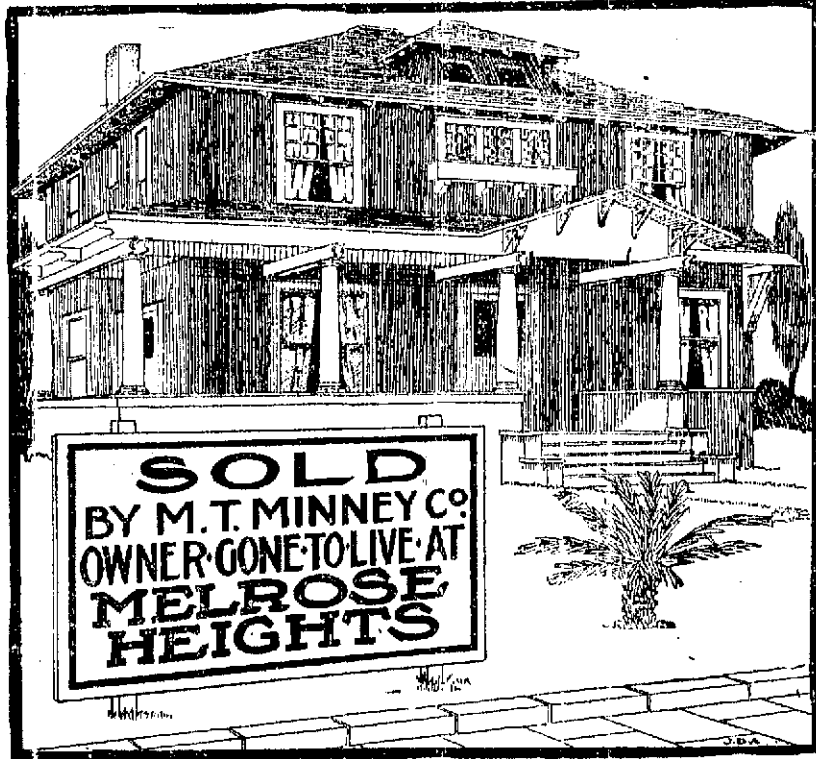

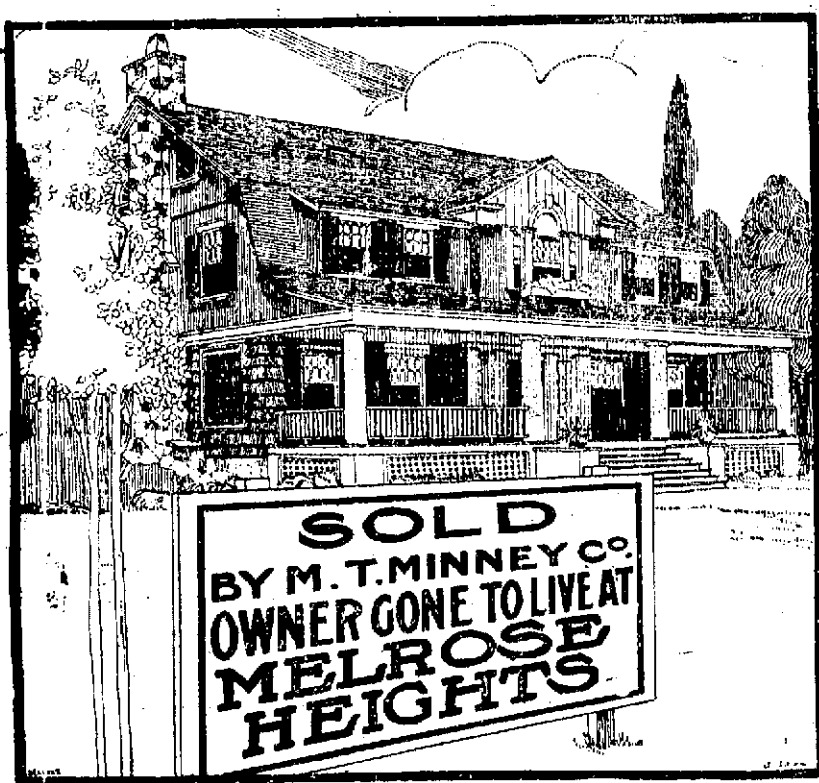

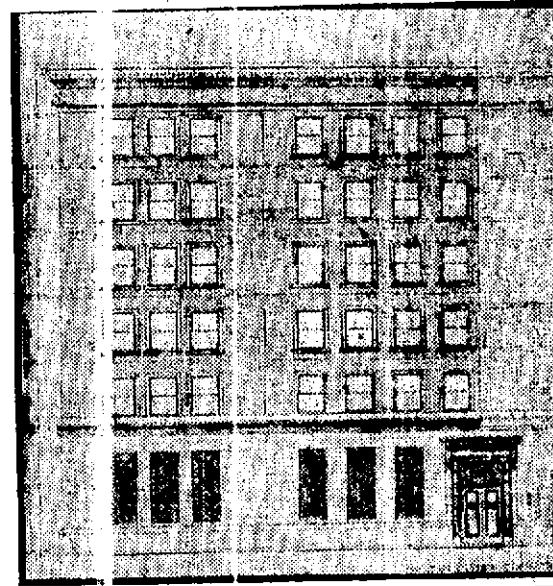

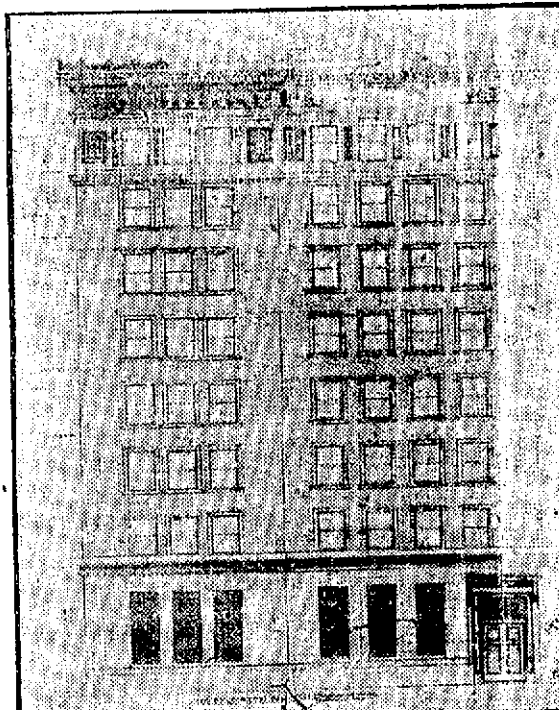

PIEDMONT HEIGHTS IS BUILDING UP

The Wickham Havens Company, Incorporated, reports that this last week, with its beautiful weather, has been a very gratifying one to it. Hundreds of people, it says, have been attracted to the hills to enjoy the sunshine and wild flowers and naturally their attention has been attracted by the amount of development work and improvement that has taken place during the winter and early spring. It has been a revelation to many who have not seen the company's properties since last fall.

Gone to Live at Melrose Heights

The owners of these magnificent homes have gone to live at Melrose Heights.

They have given up a home in the crowded city that they might live in a quiet suburb surrounded by lawns and gardens, flowers and foliage. The children now have plenty of room for their sports and pastimes. Instead of a sidewalk or a street, their playground is a large yard. Instead of indoor amusements, they now have nature's attractions. The head of the house finds it easier to go to business on rapidly moving trains other than on overcrowded street cars.

These families have adopted the custom of the times by living in a suburb in preference to a great city.

When you learn of what Melrose Heights has to offer you will see why they chose this favored place.

Melrose Heights is a part of Oakland, as the improvements of the city extend many miles beyond. It is near Melrose station, the present terminal of the Southern Pacific's local line.

The Southern Pacific is now working on the extension of their local line, which will cross Melrose Heights and have a station on the tract. The work preparatory to electrifying the line is now going on.

The scenic Boulevard begins practically at Melrose Heights, passes right through the tract and continues eleven miles on to Hayward.

Melrose Heights is but three minutes from the street-car lines of the Oakland Traction Company. It takes but fifteen minutes to reach the center of Oakland. Melrose Heights was once the old Telcott homestead, which is well known for its beautiful location.

The Heights lie on a gradual slope; good drainage; an unobstructed marine view of the bay and surrounding shores; and a mild, warm climate.

Melrose Heights has broad streets and sidewalks, made at no cost to buyers of lots; it is supplied with water, gas, sewers, electric lights and telephones. There are building restrictions to make everything high class, which will continue to increase the value of property. Melrose Heights has Grammar Schools, a High School, a College and Churches.

Considering the guaranteed improvements, the location of the property, the prices for surrounding land and the fact that Melrose Heights is inside property ready for building, the prices at which lots are being sold make this the best opportunity for the investor or homeseeker that is before the public today. The extension of the Southern Pacific line and its conversion to electricity will more than double the prices of lots.

Now is the time to buy, whether you want a home or wish merely to make big money on a secure investment. Send the coupon below and get a book which tells you all about Melrose Heights and the easy terms.

Kahn's — The Always Busy Store With An Entrance On Oakland's Three Busiest Streets — Kahns' COME TO Oakland's Largest Suit Store FOR THE Smartest Styles in Town

YOU can come here for the best values, too. It is an undeniable fact that we buy and sell more suits than any other local store. Tomorrow We Will Make a Special Display Of Trimmed and Tailored Hats That Paris Might Envy at $5.00 to $15.00

Some of the styles are dashing—some sedate—some demure—some debonnaire. There are hats for middle-aged women—for young women—for girls just blossoming into womanhood. And for the elderly woman, to whom youth is but a pleasant memory, there are scores of toques and turbans that show a quiet elegance "just after her own heart." Every hat has more style and beauty than you would expect for the price. They are easily anybody else's $7.50 to $20.00 hats.

THEATERS FOR THE WEEK

MR. M. NAWN
AT THE ORPHEUM

The Bell

The magnificent show of vaudeville which has been in evidence in the weekly bills at the Bell Theater during the past months will again be duplicated in the sparkling list of European and American novelties that comprise this week's entire bill. In strict accord with the policy of this popular theater there will be an entire change of program. The old favorites, those whose annual return is the signal for an outpouring of their many friends, is the engagement of the laughing comedy artists, "The Mace Twins" in their excruciatingly funny antics.

Miss Alice Davenport, with her excellent supporting company, present a remarkably strong one-act drama entitled "Now." Miss Davenport is an actress well-known to theatergoers as the sister-in-law of the late and illustrious Fanny Davenport. She has played in some of the best American productions and since her advent into vaudeville has made a decided place for herself in the dramatic world. The sketch which she will present at the Bell, "Now," was taken from life and written to teach a lesson to the women who destroy homes. Elmer Tenley, story teller and monologist, is a top-notch in his line full of slugging humor and a capital entertainer. Then there is Betty Unna, known as "England's Pet Boy," who figures prominently on the program in

The Orpheum

Right up to the high mark which the Orpheum always maintains is the new vaudeville show that goes on at the Twelfth street theater this afternoon. There is no let up in the pace maintained by the booking agents of the Orpheum Circuit who keep sending to the Coast a steady stream of the finest vaudeville that Europe and America have developed.

There will be new acts on the stage next week and these with the features held over from the current bill, make up a program of rare merit. Long before this, Oakland decided that the Orpheum Circuit Company's resources were so large that it would be proper to expect a big vaudeville bill each week at the Orpheum, and with this assurance the crowds nightly pack the playhouse, confident that there will always be "advanced vaudeville" ready for their inspection.

thing that might be interesting. The result of the trip is shown on the screen beginning today, when the capture of an immense whale is shown.

The Orpheum

Among those who portray Celtic characters on the vaudeville stage none is more popular than Tom Nawn who with his company will present an original and mythical comedy called "Pat and the Gents." Mr. Nawn's bougie is not the broad, guttural, throaty utterance of the low comedian, Irish comedian, he doesn't wear whiskers. He's Pat, the gardener and he talks asleep in the antiquarian and he dreams that he has released from a jar in which she had been confined for 3000 years a gent who faithfully becomes his slave and grants him every wish. The sketch is full of humor and it provokes laughter in which one need not blush. Mr. Nawn is assisted by Mrs. Nawn, Charlotte Appella, as the gent and two black men who pose as the slaves of the gent.

The Eight Melanis troupe, consisting of eight excellent vocalists will contribute a singing novelty which is said to be unusually artistic and ambitious. This elaborated offering is the outcome of a smaller act popularly known as the Melani Trio, which for years has been featured in vaudeville theaters here and abroad.

ing of eight excellent vocalists will contribute a singing novelty which is said to be unusually artistic and ambitious. This elaborated offering is the outcome of a smaller act popularly known as the Melani Trio, which for years has been featured in vaudeville theaters here and abroad.

The Casting Dancers present an aerial novelty, which owing to its sensational character and the daring displayed has become the leading attraction in vaudeville today. The four girls are the most acrobats to introduce a touch of comedy to their performance, and this feature adds materially to the offering as a laughing play.

Charles Matthews, assisted by Doris Reece will introduce a novel jumping act. This is their first tour in America although broad where Mr. Matthews is known as "The Human Kangaroo" the offering has been a big feature in the English music halls. Matthews is known as the champion jumper of the world. He has held for a year against all comers in open competition. In his vaudeville exhibition, without the aid of a spring board he does some really remarkable jumping. With his feet bound together he leaps from barrel to barrel and he covers the distance of eight yards in two jumps. He jumps in and out of barrels, over high chairs, tables and chairs, clings a full sized piano forte with one spring and does surprising vaulting. The act will be especially appealing to athletes, but it will be found intensely interesting to all patrons as well.

Violet Black, the accomplished artist with the delightful soubrette called "The Subway" will remain a prominent feature of the program.

The Four Poncherrys from abroad will exhibit their skill on the side wheel throng here. The stager, Silbon's Novelty Circus and J. J. Cullen the man from the west, will continue this week.

There will be some new imported motion pictures.

Macdonough

Tomorrow will see Kolb and Dill in the original success "Lonesome Town," at the Macdonough theater. This is the rollicking funny farce in which Kolb and Dill played their prominence many years ago. The production has of course been greatly altered since it was first used by the clever German team.

The present production is the same as was presented in New York and London. The scenery and costumes are most elaborate and no expense has been spared in making it one of the best shows in musical comedy. The play is from the pen of John Burt and is a comedy with a number of new musical bits by Mr. J. A. Raynes have been introduced, and with the old standby, "Gee, But This is a Lonesome Town," make the musical score far above par.

Adele Rafter, as an ideal designing widow, and all the other favorites will be seen.

"Lonesome Town" runs for one week, including Saturday and Sunday matinees.

OBSERVATIONS OF THE STROLLER
(N. Y. BILLBOARD.)

Timothy F. Kuteledge, of Kuteledge and Pickering, now playing a vaudeville show at one time manager of a small vaudeville company in the West. Once, while the show was playing through Minnesota, he learned, indirectly of a new opera house in one of the towns not far out of his route, and as he was always alert for premiere engagements of this nature, he wrote to the manager concerning the "time" the communication was, of course, couched in the vernacular of the theatrical business, and the manager, being the general merchant of his locality, was evidently not quite clear as to the nature of the letter.

Kuteledge's epistle is set as follows: "Please send your outfit open time. Do you play on perpen age?"

The answer that came back read as follows: "Our earliest open time is 6.30 in the evening. It does not pay to open any earlier, as the folks don't get their chores done before then. I do not play on anything myself, but we have a brass band that beats anything around here and they can play on most everything."

WHEN HE SLEPT
It is Mr. Harvey, general agent for the Hagenbeck-Wallace Show this season has had considerable newspaper experience. Even now Mr. Harvey is half-owner of a paper out in Iowa, and his stories of the conduct of such a journal are not less interesting than some of his. Reads a best stories in the same subject.

Two or three years ago Harvey installed linotypes in his plant, and as the operators were constantly getting into difficulties with the intricate machinery, he made arrangements with a local genius to make repairs whenever necessary.

THEATERS
FOR THE WEEK

and will conclude the remarkably successful seven weeks' engagement of the justly popular Kels & Mill Company.

Daniel Sully

Those who keep in touch with the latest and greatest successes in the drama and comedy line will greet the announcement of the appearance of Daniel Sully in "The Matchmaker" at the Macdonough, the week of April 10, with much fervor. The fact of Mr. Sully's appearing in a part and play that affords more opportunities than his former successes, "The Parson's Widow" and "The Matchmaker," is, in itself, sufficient reason that all lovers of a good, clean and truthful play, far distant from the much followed line of the over-present boulevard drama, may see "The Matchmaker" and leave with a conviction that they have been taught a good lesson and as a result feel a desire to begin life anew.

The story of "The Matchmaker" is decidedly original in its theme. The scenes are laid in the rough and ready country of western Idaho, a small mining town young in existence and barren of good Christian citizens. Pretty Margaret Manning is the object of the unsought love of her guardian, who is many years her senior. Arnold Leslie, a young mining engineer from the East, is long since the one in the love center of the girl and when this is learned by Jim Carter, the guardian, there immediately arises event upon event to make the lives of the young couple anything but happy. Nothing seems to be too base for Carter to attempt in his efforts to separate the two, and when he is in the midst of arousing the ire of the citizens of Boom City against Leslie for alleged horsestealing, Father Daily appears to have a hand and voice in the proceedings.

From then on the pastor of a little church in a community not overladen with parishioners has anything but a smooth trail, in the play, himself a piece of commanding influence and a man with never failing courage; and besides proving the absurdity of his marriage to his young ward he shows Carter the way to everlasting happiness in his own home. Carter murders his hope of keeping many years, when he was about to unjustly turn into the street. Mr. Sully is surrounded with a most capable company of players to fill the other strong characters, as they all are, having been taken from the Chicago of the neighborhood in which the action of the play takes place.

Ye Liberty

Manager Bishop has selected "Caught in the Rain" as the attraction at his Ye Liberty Playhouse next week, which is a comedy that will fit in nicely with the merry spirit of the week. It was the piece that Willie Collier, probably America's foremost comedian, used as a starting vehicle all of last season and visited the coast in, but as Oaklanders will well remember, flaring news announced that "Caught in the Rain" does not play Oakland, so the Bishop players will therefore be the first to offer this comedy in Oakland and those who did not feel inclined to see it next week be given the opportunity of enjoying it at half that price and without the long trip to San Francisco.

"Caught in the Rain" is farce pure and simple, and as it was written by Collier himself, in conjunction with Grant Stewart, we all know the kind of humor to expect. The scenes are laid in Montana, and depict in a humorous way life in a bustling, western town. The story concerns Doc Crawford and Jim Maxwell and the Sturges Copper mine, which they own jointly. Crawford is a young easterner, well educated, refined and a clever business man but mortally afraid of women, while Maxwell is a big, gruff self-made westerner who boasts that he always gets what he wants out of a woman. Their foreman at the mine discovers a vein of rich copper in the property adjoining the mine, a ranch belonging to a Mr. Mason. Crawford and Maxwell try every means of getting possession of the ranch, but learn that Mason has decided it to his daughter, Muriel, in such a way that she can not dispose of it until she becomes twenty-one years old or married. As she is only nineteen and they want the ranch in a hurry, Maxwell decides that one of them will have to marry her, and decides that Crawford is the best suited for the job.

It seems, however, that Crawford has been caught under an awning in a rain-storm the day before, and during the storm had met a young lady, and strangely enough had fallen in love with her on sight but had allowed her to slip away without giving her name. When his partner proposes that he marry Muriel Mason in order to get the ranch, he refuses, as he is thinking only of the lady under the awning. Crawford himself proposes marriage to her and she accepts. It is then that Crawford learns that his friend of the rain-storm, Muriel, is the same and he leaves for the coast to try and forget it all.

He returns in the last act, however, and matters are finally straightened out, Crawford getting the lady of his choice and in addition the ranch with its valuable copper.

The authors have peopled their farce with any number of excellent character types, and the fun is fast and furious. The first act shows a street scene in Helena, and this scene, with its rain-form, can be made particularly realistic.

The Collier role, of course, will be played by George Fienberg, who is known enough to his comedian's work to know that there will be nothing lacking in his performance of the part. In the cast will be found Helen Holmes, Katherine Perkins, George Cooper, Helena Lackey, E. J. Benjamin, Harry Shuman, George Weaver, Elmer Booth, John Thorne and James Kane, a new comer, besides several others.

"Caught in the Rain" is on for next week only, after which comes "Salomy Jane."

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Lieutenant-Commander L. C. Palmer, United States Navy, just appointed naval aide to President Taft to succeed Lieutenant Read, who was badly injured a few weeks ago while horse-back riding, is one of the most popular men in naval circles. General Manager Craig Plans
Manifold Improvements in Automatic Phone System

C. C. Craig, the new general manager of the Home Telephone Company, is making rapid strides in the development in this city of the system of the corporation to represent. Craig was selected for the position of general manager in Oakland because of his record-breaking development of the Home telephone system in Portland. He has brought with him from the latter city a number of experts in the telephone business, who form a sort of advisory cabinet for him.

The improvements and developments that are scheduled to be put into effect by Craig in this city are manifold. The service is already being widely introduced, and there is every indication that Craig will put the service in this city on an exceptional basis as he did in Los Angeles and Portland.

Extensive improvements are being made at the offices here, and the switch-room is being considerably enlarged to accommodate the growing business. The switch-room is an extremely interesting study in itself; it is as instructive as it is interesting. In Portland so great was the number of people who flocked to the place to study the operations of the "automatic hello girls" that the department became more of a reception place than a division of the system devoted to the most important end of the service.

Mr. Craig has already publicly announced that he intends to throw open to the public the switch-room in this city, where persons will always be made welcome and given every opportunity, under the guidance of an official, to watch the operations of the automatic system that has won the sobriquet of "the secret service."
